TWO HELD ACCUSE UNCLE

Fugitive Alleged to Have Slashed Victim's Neck In Frenzied Anger

BODY FOUND PROPPED UP IN CAR NEAR JAIL

Young Oklahoma Bride Is Robbed of Husband at La Habra Card Game

Accusing their uncle, Ira Noble, 40, of having murdered G. B. Rutherford, 33, wealthy Oklahoma oil man, during a dispute over cards at La Habra shortly before midnight last night, Sewell Noble, 25, and Granville Noble, 27, were being held prisoners at the county jail here today, pending an investigation.

In the meantime, authorities were conducting an intensive hunt for the accused man who in a fit of rage was declared by the younger men to have drawn a knife, thrust it into Rutherford's neck, severing the jugular vein, and then slashed his victim's left shoulder and wrist.

A puzzling feature of the murder was the fact that the body of Rutherford, better known as Jack Ballard, who is a full-blooded Osage Indian, was found in front of the La Habra jail at midnight last night propped up in his coupe, which had been mysteriously driven six blocks from the suspected scene of the murder.

Recently Married

According to Deputy Sheriff Ed McClellan Rutherford had an income of between $300 and $350 a month in royalties from oil wells which he formerly owned in Oklahoma. He was said to have married a young Oklahoma woman three months ago.

Deputies at the sheriff's office here said that Rutherford and a man named Rose were gambling at cards with Ira Noble and the latter's two nephews. A hand-to-hand battle ensued when a fierce dispute arose between the elder Noble and the Indian.

The two young Nobles and their mother told the deputies how Ira Noble drew his knife and slew his opponent.

How the body was placed in Rutherford's coupe and driven to the La Habra jail remains a mystery, as both the younger Nobles deny that they know how to operate an automobile.

Rose notified Deputy Sheriff Charles Brown of La Habra that his "partner" was dead in the automobile in front of the jail, and Rose has not been seen since. It was reported. He also is sought to tell his version of the tragedy.

Home Scrubbed Clean

There was no blood in the car and when the officers and County Coroner C. D. Brown reached Granville Noble's house, they reported the place had just been scrubbed clean. The shoes and clothing of the murdered man, however, indicated to the officers that the body had been dragged.

An inquest was to be conducted by County Coroner Brown at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the mortuary quarters of Angus McAuley in Fullerton.

Coolidge Has No Fear Of Navy Peril

WASHINGTON, May 6.—President Coolidge does not believe there is any cause for alarm in the condition of the American navy. It was declared authoritatively at the White House today.

The president told callers that the question of strength of the American navy establishment is constantly under study and he was not inclined to believe the recent statement that the navy is falling into a dangerous state.

These charges have resulted in the introduction of resolutions for a congressional investigation.

FEAR HEAVY DEATH LIST FROM BLAST

Several Workers Believed Trapped as Explosion Wrecks Nitro-Glycerine Plant.

FRANKLIN, May 6.—An explosion of nitro-glycerine wrecked the Pease magazine at Brandon's Ferry, ten miles south of here shortly before noon today.

First reports reaching here were to the effect that several men working in the magazine were caught in the explosion and probably killed.

The shock from the blast was felt over a radius of 20 miles and flames spread, endangering another nitro plant, a mile away.

Because of danger of a second blast the Pennsylvania express due at Pittsburgh at 5:45 was held up at East Sandy, four miles from Franklin.

SOLONS FACING NEW FIGHT ON HOUSE RULES

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Republican obstruction of the Barkley bill, abolishing the railroad labor board, which kept the house in session by filibustering until last night, has threatened to reopen the rules revision fight.

When Representative Barkley attempted to bring up the bill again today, points of order were raised that it could not again be considered until Monday, May 19, the next day for considering bills under suspension of the rules.

In the argument over the rules, Representative Nelson, Wisconsin, Progressive Republican leader, and Representative Moore, Virginia, Democrat, served notice that if the new supposedly liberal discharge rule became a vehicle for unexpected postponement of the very bills it was drafted to assist, the rules should again be revised.

Further consideration of the house bill was finally postponed for two weeks by a ruling of Speaker Gillett, who sustained those who contended that it could not be considered again until Monday, May 19. Its defeat, therefore, in spite of the majority in its favor was seen today as a probable result of the filibuster and the speaker's ruling.

THE WORLD MOVES.

GRANADA, Spain, May 5.—The earth is still moving about the village of Monachil, carrying everything in its path and in many instances swallowing up entire olive groves and houses. Eminent scientists who have been attracted to the spot say that the movement of the earth is gradual, but hardly perceptible to the eye.

Denies Fraud Charges In Pardon Case; Raps Testimony of Landis

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Assistant Attorney General Middlekauff of Chicago today told the Daugherty investigating committee that there were no irregularities in connection with the pardon of Phil Grossman, Chicago saloon keeper, by President Coolidge. Middlekauff declared that Judge Landis had "made statements untruthful, misleading and unwarranted" in charging the errors.

The chamber was thrown into an uproar over Middlekauff's statement.

"I recommended the Grossman pardon because I thought it was just and right—and I would do it all over again," Middlekauff said.

"We have no doubt of that," Senator Wheeler declared while the crowd laughed.

"I went to Judge Landis about getting a pardon for Grossman and he put on one of his prima donna smiles and said: 'Those fellows down in Washington would like to get my name on a pardon list like this but they won't get it,'" Middlekauff said.

Middlekauff said Prohibition Agent Bell who testified against Grossman, was a "liar" and that this was the basis for the pardon recommendation.

DOUBLE TRAGEDIES TAKE TRIO

MELLON BILL PUT ASIDE BY G.O.P.

Republican Senators Begin Fight For Compromise Over Tax Rates

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Senate Republicans voted today to desert the Mellon tax plan and seek the best possible compromise.

Smarting under the emphatic defeat of the Mellon plan in the senate, a caucus of Republicans agreed to seek adoption of a 32 per cent surtax minimum and if that is defeated to go as high as 37 1/2 per cent.

The Progressives who formed the coalition with Democrats which resulted in defeat of the Mellon plan, absented themselves from the meeting.

The action of the caucus was complete abandonment of the Mellon rate schedule and definitely killed the proposals of the secretary of the treasury as far as this session of congress is concerned.

The Republicans took the only possible step, it was believed, in view of the apparent ability of Democrats to defeat any low surtax. It was, however, the first action taken by the Republicans as a whole regarding the tax rates.

The 37 1/2 per cent maximum was adopted by the house while the senate adopted a forty per cent maximum proposed by the Democrats.

Democrats also held a secret conference on the tax bill but no conclusions were reached, according to the leaders.

Their emphatic defeat of the Mellon income rates made the Democrats feel strong enough to put their sliding scale tax on corporations and their inheritance levy into the measure.

The Mellon surtax were replaced by the Democratic 40 per cent maximum by a vote of 43 to 40 late yesterday. The normal rates of two-four and six per cent were adopted over the Mellon rates by a vote of 44 to 37.

Indications are the Democrats can now safely hold their margin for the only remaining points to be disposed of—corporations and inheritance rates.

SUSPECT IN TRAIN MURDER FOUND DEAD

MEDFORD, Ore., May 6.—A body taken from the Rogue river Sunday was today identified as that of Hugh De Autremont, long sought as a suspect in the Siskiyou tunnel train robbery.

Identification was made by the young man's father, who came here from Eugene, Ore.

Hugh Autremont was the youngest of three brothers for whom a nationwide search has been in progress since last October 11, when southbound Southern Pacific train No. 13 was blown up in Tunnel No. 13.

GOTHAM BOBBED BANDIT IS GIVEN LONG SENTENCE FOR DARING CRIMES WITH MATE

From Ten to Twenty Years In Prison For Couple Court's Order; Girl Tells Others of Heartaches Result of Criminal Career

NEW YORK, May 6.—"From ten to twenty years in prison." Celia Cooney, who was Brooklyn's bobbed hair bandit, heard this sentence passed upon herself and her husband, Ed, by Justice Martin today.

It was the maximum sentence possible under the law, the couple having pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and robbery.

Justice Martin addressed himself to the girl, rather than to her young husband.

"You must be taught that such acts as you committed cannot go unpunished. I sentence you both to prison from ten to twenty years. You to Auburn and your husband to Sing Sing," he declared.

The little girl didn't flinch. Only the teeth sunk in her sullen upper lip showed the stress of emotion as she fought back tears. Turning slowly on her heel, she sent a quick glance of scorn over the court room and looked steadily from the room to the prison car that was to take her on the journey to Auburn, the women's prison.

Celia wrote a note which she sent to the judge.

"To those girls who think they would like to see their names in the paper as mine has been, let me say:

"Don't try to do it. You don't know what you suffer. While I write, my heart is breaking in me."

"CELIA COONEY."

She and Ed say they are "going straight" when they get out.

Celia's career in the limelight was brief but spectacular. She and her husband confessed to ten robberies, mostly in chain grocery stores early this year. In the last of these Cooney shot a clerk who snatched at his wife's veil to see her features. By this time she had become famous as the bobbed hair bandit and had several imitators.

An intensive police search drove the couple to Florida by boat and they were captured at Jacksonville, April 20.

At the time of her arrest, Celia said she had become a mother, that the baby had died and that it was to provide for this child that she took up the life of a bobbed haired bandit.

U. S. HELPS BRING PEACE IN HONDURAS

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Peace prevails once more in war torn Honduras. The state department has been informed that the Amalapa conference was a complete success and that the Central American powers have promised recognition to the new revolutionary government.

Sumner Welles, American representative, who presided at the conference, is on his way back to Santo Domingo.

Delegates of San Salvador, Costa Rica, Nicaragua and Guatemala who participated in the conference sent their thanks today to President Coolidge for American mediation.

Fraud Suspect's Wife Plans Suit

LOS ANGELES, May 6.—Mrs. Harry Remington Mercer, wife of the alleged $200,000 swindler, now on route to Pittsburgh to face charges on file there, will bring suit for divorce within a short time, she declared here today.

Mercer was arrested in Oakland. His activities are said to have extended all over the country, during the past seven years.

REGISTER TO FLASH VOTE FOR SANTA ANA, COUNTY, STATE

Presenting its usual prompt and efficient service to the public at election times, The Register tonight will flash on the south wall of the post office building, Sycamore and Third streets, city, county and state returns on today's presidential primary.

Register representatives will visit polling places in the city and report counts as far as they have progressed at the time of the visit.

Incomplete returns on some of the precincts probably will be available by 7:30 o'clock, while complete returns from some of the smaller precincts should be reported in by 8 o'clock.

It is believed that by 10 o'clock state returns should be complete enough to indicate whether Johnson or Coolidge delegates will represent the state at the national convention.

Parties calling into The Register office for information are requested to call 1650 or 90, both phones of which are situated in the news room. Phone 29 will be reserved for election reports coming into the office.

Phones 87, 88 or 89, situated in the business office and circulation department, will not be available to dissemination of election information.

TWO COUPLES IN GASTLY KILLINGS

Suicide Pact and Murder and Self-Destruction Behind L. A. Deaths

(By United Press Leased Wire) LOS ANGELES, May 6.—Two double tragedies, in different sections of the city, today took the lives of two men and one woman and resulted in the fatal wounding of another.

Robert Fenning, 45, plunged a cobbler's knife twice into the breast of his wife, Lilly, and then nearly severed his own head from his shoulders.

Fenning died almost instantly, while his wife will not recover, receiving hospital surgeons said.

Earlier in the day police broke down the door of a small room in a union street lodging house, and found there Lester Leach and the woman registered as his wife, both dead with bullet wounds through their heads.

The Fenning's lived at 250 East 43rd street. He owned a small shoe mending shop, and it was with a knife from his own tool kit that he fatally injured his wife and slew himself.

Acquaintances told police that for some weeks Fenning had been a victim of hallucinations, and lived under the belief that he was being pursued.

A few days ago he closed his shop and retired morosely to his home. For hours he would sit silently, without moving.

Today he called his wife and, without a word of warning, plunged a knife into her breast.

Neighbors who rushed to the scene hurried Mrs. Fenning to the hospital. Detectives returned to arrest Fenning but found him lying dead on the floor, his throat slit from ear to ear.

The Leachs were found dead in a scanty room in which they lived. Unable to find work, poverty forced them into the suicide compact, detectives believe.

Although both were still young, in their middle thirties, neither had been able to secure employment, neighbors said. There was no food in the room and the couple was apparently out of money.

Lying swathed in bandages, yet clinging to life with a tenacity which gave rise to hope that she may recover, Mrs. Fenning told police the details of her husband's mental derangement, which resulted so tragically.

"He has accused me for months of being a detective," she said. "He has accused all our neighbors, saying they were trying to throw him into the insane asylum."

"He had nothing to worry about, in reality. We owned our own home and another house we rented for $50 a month, while his work brought in enough to live on well."

"Our two boys were good to us and we were all very happy. He often said he would never harm a hair on my head. I never thought it would come to this. I thought I was protecting him when I refused to report his condition to police."

L. A. WOMAN GIVEN OFFICE OF Y. W. C. A.

NEW YORK, May 6.—Mrs. Frederick M. Paist of Philadelphia, was re-elected president of the Y. W. C. A. at the close of the biennial conference here today.

Mrs. Charles O. Ashley of Los Angeles was elected first vice president and Miss Elizabeth Skinner of Dundelf, Fla., second vice president.

Mrs. Bertha Pabst of Washington, D. C., and Miss Lois Kugler of Boston were elected general secretaries.

The expected fight over the resolution favoring America's entrance into the league of nations did not develop. When the resolution was read only a few dissenting votes were cast.

"30" BULLETINS

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., May 6.—Japanese exclusion legislation will involve serious calamity, according to a resolution presented the general conference of the Methodist church here today by Rev. Herbert B. Johnson of Berkeley, Calif. The resolution did not call for unrelenting immigration but for a modification of the Japanese exclusion clause.

Young Doheny Witness in Jury Oil Quiz

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Edward L. Doheny Jr., of Los Angeles, son of Edward L. Doheny, lessee of naval oil reserve No. 1, in California, was a witness today before the federal grand jury here hearing evidence concerning the leasing of the naval oil reserves.

Doheny spent only six minutes in the jury room, giving rise to the belief that he refused to testify. According to testimony before the senate oil committee by his father, young Doheny brought the black satchel containing $100,000 in bills from New York to Albert Fall here on November 30, 1921, for which Fall is said to have given him a note.

A storm has broken which made flying conditions unfavorable.

No trace has yet been found of the squadron commander, Major Frederick L. Martin, who has been missing since he took off from Chignik last Wednesday.

SEE PERIL FOR DAWES PLANS IN GERMANY

(By United Press Leased Wire) BERLIN, May 6.—The German people gave the Dawes-Young plan a narrow majority in the national elections.

Whatever the ensuing government and parliament may do, official results of Sunday's polling showed today that at least 15,000,000 of the 29,000,000 voters registered approval of the experts' proposals.

The total vote of the Socialists, Democrats, Centrists and Folk-Partei candidates—all of whom were pledged to support the plan—was more than half of the ballots cast.

Approximately 11,000,000 voters, those for Nationalists, Folkists and Communists, oppose the Dawes Young report.

The remaining 3,000,000 voters are either mildly for or against the plan.

PARIS, May 6.—France, if today's press correctly interprets her attitude, sees in the results of the German elections a fading out of hope for early fulfillment of the Dawes-Young plan.

The Paris morning papers declare the outcome, with the gains registered by the German Nationalist party, renders hopes of fulfillment illusory, although none expects open resistance.

"Nothing will succeed against Germany except force," Pertinax declares in the Echo de Paris, declaring. He points out the difficulty of understanding where a sufficient majority will be found to carry on a government.

Le Matin forecasts that the general attitude of any new German government will be resistance to treaty obligations.

GASOLINE DANGEROUS.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Gasoline today has become a greater hazard because it is less feared, says a bulletin of the American automobile Association. The losses by fire are still excessive and beyond the conception of the average motorist, according to officials of the leading insurance companies that write automobile fire coverage.

'RECORD' FORECAST

Paucity of Ballots Will Set New Mark In California, Forecast

Despite the fact that a presidential primary was being held, Santa Ana voters up to 1 p. m. today had cast only approximately 15 per cent of the registered vote of the city. Telegraphic reports were that voters elsewhere in the state were equally apathetic.

Comment was heard on the lack of interest as compared with former elections in which the senior United States senator from California was involved and in which he has always rolled up big majorities.

On the basis of the forenoon voting, it was predicted this afternoon that when the polls close at 7 o'clock tonight the total vote would not be in excess of thirty per cent of the registered vote.

Possibility of the afternoon balloting being heavier than in the forenoon was seen because of the fact that women will be more free in the afternoon to go to the polls.

Election boards were "taking life easy," members of many of the boards declaring the residents were not coming in fast enough even to keep the officials awake.

The only fight of any interest was that between Johnson and Coolidge supporters for the selection of delegates to the convention that Republicans believe will name the next president of the United States.

McAdoo was conceded to have a walkaway in the matter of delegates for the Democratic convention, and there was little or no interest in election of the delegates to the national conventions of the Prohibitionists and Socialists.

A dispatch received here stated that although weather was perfect and there was nothing to keep voters at home, reports at San Francisco shortly before noon indicated the lightest vote in recent political history being cast at California's Presidential primary.

Election Held Vital

Political observers at San Francisco believed that the balloting cast today might go far toward determining the political future of Senator Johnson.

Opposed in his home state by President Coolidge for control of the California delegation to the Republican national convention, Johnson is making what is regarded as a "last stand" to secure a firmly pledged delegation—something he has failed to secure in other states.

Should he win he will have a voice, at least, on the floor of the convention and his grip on the citizenry of his home state will have been demonstrated once more.

Should he lose, it will be the first defeat of his political career and what might follow is subject for much conjecture.

Woman Demands Equal Rights In Managing Of Methodist Affairs

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., May 6.—Movement was under way today to give women equal rights in management of Methodist affairs, before the committee of temporal economy of the General Methodist conference here.

Miss Madeline Southard, militant Kansas Methodist, brought the issue into the open by presenting a resolution which would empower women to serve on administrative boards of the church.

Miss Southard was the second woman to be given the privilege of the floor since the conference opened May 1.

"The present practice of having only men on the administrative boards is a left over paganism," she declared. She insisted that women are far in advance of the men in general work of the church.

H. B. TRUSTEES UNDECIDED AS TO BAND FOR SUMMER; BEACH MUSICIANS OUT BID

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 6.—Charles G. Boster and William Wharton were last night appointed to investigate the employment of a band after the local board of trustees had been left in a quandary following the submission of bids for concerts by two bands.

Heated speeches by the backers of both bands were carried on for some time. Charges were hurled against the Huntington Beach Municipal band that it was composed of professional men from Long Beach and Anaheim, as well as from Santa Ana. One local man also stated that local people who desired to play had been ousted from the municipal band here.

A bid submitted by the Santa Ana municipal band for a program of fifteen concerts was taken under consideration by the board also. Dr. Merrill Hollingsworth, representing the Santa Ana band, stated that the band would do all in their power to assist any local players who wished to play in the band, with a view of helping this city form a local band. FATE OF BONUS ACT UP TO MELLON, LORD

(By United Press Leased Wire) WASHINGTON, May 6.—With strong indications from White House authorities that the veto again will be exercised, President Coolidge today was understood to be prepared to act promptly on the insurance soldier bonus bill.

The measure, which arrived at the White House late yesterday, has been referred to Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and General Lord, director of the budget, for study and to report whether the public treasury can stand the financial burden involved in the bill. Upon their report the President's final decision will rest.

SAYS COOLIDGE TO KEEP OIL IN GROUND

(By United Press Leased Wire) LOS ANGELES, May 6.—President Coolidge has adopted a policy relative to naval oil reserves which aims to keep the oil in the ground wherever possible, said George Otis Smith of the department of interior, member of the commission on oil reserves, now in Los Angeles.

The body, recently appointed, also includes Rear Admiral Hillary Jones, R. D. Bush, connected with the California state bureau of mines, and Lieut.-Commander M. C. Robertson, secretary of the commission.

"Our Mission," Smith continued, "is to study the situation in the various reserves with a view to determining to what extent the President's policy can be carried out."

"An approaching shortage of oil is forecast and conservation measures are the part of wisdom at this time."

Smith said that the commission, of which he is chairman, has nothing to do with the oil investigation the senate conducted.

Members of the board will spend several days in California, investigating condition of reserves in this state, following which they will go to Teapot Dome field in Wyoming.

Fear Missing Man Is Amnesia Victim

LONG BEACH, May 6.—Arthur M. Goodhue, manager of the Long Beach branch of the San Pedro Lumber company, who has been missing since April 26, last, is a victim of amnesia, his friends and relatives believe.

The search for Goodhue has extended to sanatoriums and hospitals of Southern California.

An audit of the company's books has not revealed a motive for his disappearance.

Neighbors of Woodcraft

Last night at the meeting of Neighbors of Woodcraft in M. V. A. hall, a surprise was sprung which has not yet been explained to the happy victims of the affair.

Entering the hall for the supposed regular business meeting, members were amazed to find the place attractively decked in lodge colors, red, white and green, while three of the officers found their desks brightened with beautiful flowers. Mrs. Metta McBride found Maman Cochet roses, Mrs. Annie Westlake, Cecil Brunner buds and Mrs. Isabel Gipson, a cluster of spicy pink carnations with a birthday card attached.

A very happy evening followed and at a late hour the use of the banquet tables was explained when ice cream, cake and coffee were served, with the flower-showered still in the dark as to the identity of their kindly hosts.

During the business session an invitation was read from Ontario Neighbors for the local lodge to visit them on the night of May 13 for initiation and a social meeting.

Ebell Club

Ebell society's ways and means committee took advantage of the near-completion of the new clubhouse to stage their committee meeting there yesterday and see for themselves how attractive the great building will be on the night of May 22 when the first social event, the Ebell dinner, will be presented.

Tickets for the dinner were distributed among members of the committee yesterday, and in addition it was announced that each section leader and each member of the board would have tickets to dispose of while others will be left with Miss Mabel McFadden at her office at the McFadden Hardware company.

"It isn't that anybody will expect to eat five dollars' worth of food that night, but they will surely have a wonderful dinner and a pleasant entertainment afterwards," today declared a prominent Ebell woman and member of the ways and means committee, in relating details of yesterday's meeting.

While the fittings of the clubhouse will not be complete, those articles of furniture now in place are imparting a home-like air to the place and the Thursday night dinner as the month draws to a close, will find things very attractive indeed.

China and silver will be in readiness—the silver having been a gift from the Sixth Household Economics section and from the S. O. S. Bridge club whose members are practically all Ebell women and all of whom are public-spirited and generous in aiding such a worthy enterprise.

Kitchens at the clubhouse are nearing completion. Linoleum is laid and the stove in the kitchenette is installed as are the steam tables in the main kitchen. All of which promises well for the turkey lovers at the opening dinner.

NORWAY INCREASES TONNAGE OF SHIPS

NEW YORK, May 6.—Discussing the significance of Norway's sea carrying trade, the Monthly comments upon the peculiar sensitiveness of that country's merchant marine to business opportunity wherever it arises, as follows:

"Following the Japanese earthquake of 1923 a pressing need developed for ships to carry across the Pacific the great quantities of lumber and other building materials required for reconstruction. The tonnage obtained comprised vessels of several nationalities previously employed in other trades, but a conspicuous part of this hastily assembled fleet consisted of Norwegian tonnage. There is regularly a representation of Norwegian vessels in the lumber and grain trade between North Pacific ports and the Far East. The emergency and the prospect of greater earnings brought about a considerable addition to the normal tonnage of Norwegian ships on this route.

"One of the greatest industries of Norway, the sea carrying trade is pursued to a large extent at vast distances from the home shores. This commercial fleet, ranking eighth in the world's shipping, has been developed by less than 3,000,000 people in the most sparsely populated country of western Europe.

"The distinguishing features of the Norwegian marine are the low percentage of its vessels employed in line traffic and the preponderance of tramp vessels. The foreign trade of Norway is not of large volume compared with that of other western European nations and accordingly the carrying trade to and from the home ports is scanty. Probably not more than 10 per cent of the tonnage in Norwegian registry engages in the foreign trade of the country. Coastwise traffic likewise affords only meager trade for vessels although Norway has a shore line of fifteen hundred miles. This local carrying trade and the fisheries give employment to another 10 per cent of the merchant fleet. The remaining 80 per cent of Norwegian vessels range the seven seas for their freight."

The cost of national defense for the next fiscal year is placed at $545,581,238.

VARICOSE VEINS ARE QUICKLY REDUCED

No sensible person will continue to suffer from dangerous swollen veins or bunches when the new powerful, yet harmless germicide called Emerald Oil can readily be obtained at the C. S. Kelley Drug Store. Mail orders accepted.

Ask for a two-ounce original bottle of Emerald Oil (full strength) and refuse substitutes. Use as directed and in a few days improvement will be noted, then continue until the swollen veins are reduced to normal. It is guaranteed and is so powerful that it also reduces enlarged glands, goiters and wens.—Adv.

CATTLE FACING PERIL OF NEW PLAGUE, VIEW

(By United Press Leased Wire) SAN FRANCISCO, May 6.—With the fight against the hoof and mouth epidemic among California cattle practically won, a new danger appeared today to threaten the livestock industry. Anthrax fever was discovered among cattle on two ranches in Shasta county.

Dr. C. E. Carter, livestock inspector of Shasta county, announced in Redding today that several head of cattle have died on ranches near Pittville from anthrax.

Reports were received here yesterday that what appeared to be a new outbreak of hoof and mouth disease had been discovered in Lassen county and Dr. Carter immediately was ordered to inspect the herd.

The symptoms of the two dread diseases are similar, except that in the case of hoof and mouth disease cattle drool at the mouth and bloat as the germ becomes more powerful.

Anthrax is a much more common ailment among cattle than is aphthous fever, so called "hoof and mouth disease," but mortality and rapidity of spread of the infection is not so great, according to authorities.

Further evidence that the hoof and mouth disease epidemic is coming under control was contained in a series of announcements by officials fighting the disease here today.

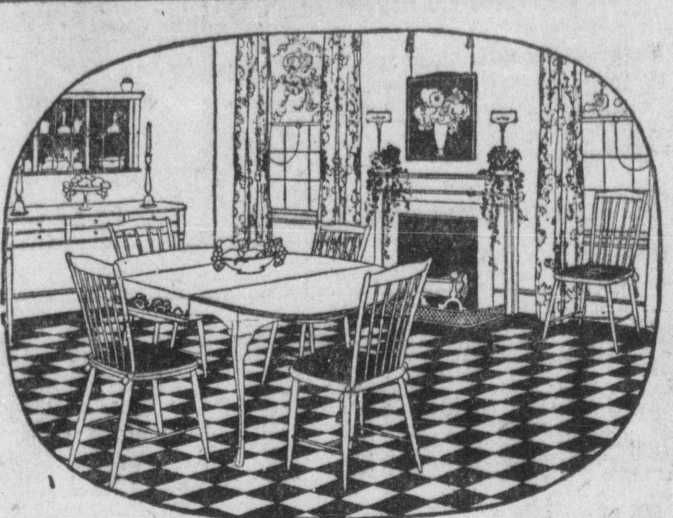

These developments were:

Announcement that the Pacific Coast highway from San Francisco to Los Angeles is now open and free for tourist and other traffic. At no place is there absolute quarantine and only at a few points will cars be required to run through disinfecting troughs.

Announcement that fishing will be permitted in all counties except those under rigid quarantine.

Figures showing that in the last four days there have been no major infections reported and the minor cases have been within the so-called "infected districts."

Arizona and Texas, according to word received here, have named delegates to visit California and investigate conditions for themselves, after which they will report back to their respective state governments their recommendations as to what action should be taken on California's request that embargoes on farm produce be lifted.

Death Notices

A WORD OF COMFORT
Our sight is clarified when dear ones pass on into Paradise. We know then, with a certainty impossible before, that we love them for what they are and not for anything they might do for us. This helps us to understand God's love for us and to love Him as our Father even when we find it hard to be sure He is with us amid our perplexities and pains.

AWAIT HIGH TIDES TO REFLOAT CRAFT

MONTEREY, Cal., May 6.—An attempt to refloat the Associated Oil tanker Frank H. Buck, which ran onto the rocks off Point Pinos, near here last Saturday night, will be made May 14, Captain Sigmond Anderson, master of the vessel announced today.

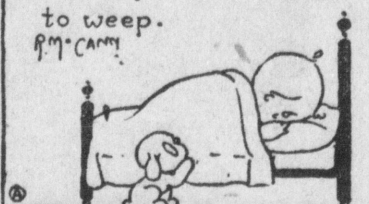

Maximum high tides are expected on that date and for two or three days thereafter.

Meanwhile preparations are being made for rigging the towing tackle and plugging holes in the empty oil tanks and bulkheads punctured by the rocks at the time of impact.

The wrecking tug Peacock, of San Pedro, is standing by the vessel, which Captain Anderson said as she was an hour after she struck.

The course deals with writing of sequence, synopsis, or photoplays organized before they can be produced by directors and actors. It will take up the dramatic principles of the photoplay which are conflicts, dramatic trials, situations, suspense, climaxes, and unties; study of the screen, such as the punctuation of photoplays, the importance of the sequence of the building, methods of revealing and developing character on the screen, cost of production; writing a photoplay which takes up organization of material, testing the plot from the viewpoint of the dramatic principles, dividing the story into sequences, writing the detailed sequence synopsis, and continuous action and increasing dramatic tension.

NOTED STAGE STAR TAKES THIRD MATE

(By United Press Leased Wire)
NEW YORK, May 6.—Cast in the role of a villain in "The Moon Flower", Frederick Worlock, English actor, played his part with such animation that he upset all the good old tenets of the stage and carried away the beautiful heroine as his bride.

The heroine was Elsie Ferguson, who married Worlock at her home in Great Neck, as the climax to a successful season. It is Miss Ferguson's third matrimonial venture. Her first husband was Fred Hoey, son of a former president of an express company, and her second, from whom she obtained a divorce last July, was Thomas B. Clarke, vice president of the Harriman National bank.

Both Worlock and Miss Ferguson gave their ages as 38.

'RADIO BUGS' IN $400 THEFT OF APPARATUS

"Radio bugs" today were reported at the police station and sheriff's office here to have broken into the clubhouse of the Santa Ana Radio club, at the rear of 630 North Parton street. Nearly $400 worth of radio, equipment was stolen. The "job" was believed to have been done by persons with a knowledge of radio, as the sets were "hooked up" in a way that only an expert could take them apart and remove them from the building, leaving the wires uncut as they were when the loss was discovered.

The equipment stolen includes a $75 transmitter, a $75 regenerative receiver, loud speaker, head phones, vacuum tubes, storage battery, dry batteries, about $30 worth of radio books and magazines and numerous other radio supplies, constituting the joint property of the members of the club.

According to Motorcycle Officer H. D. Jaynes and Herman Zabel, superintendent of identification of the sheriff's office here, at least two persons were implicated in the burglary. The loot was believed to have been carried to an automobile which was parked at the rear of the small clubhouse, it was said.

LAGUNA BEACH PERSONAL NOTES

LAGUNA BEACH, May 6.—Frank Goddard motored to Los Angeles Saturday to remain over the weekend.

Dr. L. E. Tilbury, Mrs. Tilbury and their son, Lloyd, and Mr. Lowell Planalp of Los Angeles, were house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Planalp at Redwood Rest over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Barrios and daughters, Edith and Hortense, of Santa Ana, and Mr. Joe Morales and two daughters of San Bernardino, were Laguna Beach visitors Sunday, guests of Miss Beatrice Barrios.

Mrs. Perry F. Warren entertained at bridge Wednesday evening at which Mrs. Frank Champion and Mr. Sheridan had high score. The house was decorated with Scotch broom and dusty miller, which was very attractive.

Mr. Francis Wade of Santa Ana was transacting business in Laguna Beach Wednesday of last week.

Mr. John Bushman has completed the building of five houses on the school house hill on Park avenue, known as Honeymoon Court. It is a foregone conclusion that they won't stand vacant very long this season.

Mr. Howard Jennings, Mrs. Jennings, of Santa Ana, Miss Rosetta Thurston of San Fernando, Miss Augusta Buchheim, Mrs. Harriet Buchheim and Mr. Dean of Loma Linda, were the weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Thurston.

Mr. V. L. Murphy spent several days last week visiting his sister, Mrs. H. W. Ferguson, of Los Angeles.

Mr. Roy W. Peacock, realtor, has added Mr. Paul Nunan to his sales force. Mr. Peacock is known locally as an expert "breaker-in" of new real estate dealers.

Mr. J. Hunter's restaurant, the Raven, has been moved to the adjoining lot. Its former site, owned by Mr. Tech, is too valuable to be left long uncultivated. Rumor has it that the owner intends to build a new store.

Mr. Perry F. Warren has sold his grocery store at the corner of Spring street and Ocean avenue, to Mr. W. L. Hoover of Santa Ana. Mr. Hoover will operate at the present location until September, when he will move to the Warren building on Ocean avenue, where he has taken a three-year lease.

Mr. Warren's patrons are very sorry to lose him as their grocer, but wish the new owner the best of success. Mrs. Pence will be there as in the past to take care of the customers in her very efficient manner.

Tuesday, May 6, marks the completion of the half century residence in California of Mr. Lewis Moulton of El Toro, and the day will be celebrated by a surprise dinner for Mr. Moulton and a large party of pioneers. Laguna Beach will be represented by Mr. Joseph S. Thurston.

Mr. Tenus Hansen and four sons of Fullerton were Laguna Beach visitors Sunday, spending the afternoon with Miss Edith Hansen.

GARDEN GROVE, May 6.—Dedication exercises of the grammar school auditorium were held Friday evening, May 2. The Girls' Glee club under the direction of Miss Marguerite Young presented the first number on the program. The chorus is composed of about forty girls from the seventh and eighth grades.

The invocation followed by the Rev. David B. Looftbourrow. Other numbers on the program were: a vocal duet, "Whispering Hope," by Mrs. Josephine Brubaker and Miss Helena Curtis; remarks by J. G. Allen; violin solo by Irvine F. German. Mr. German responded to several encores.

Steal Tools from Box of Carpenter

Thieves broke into the toolbox of Pete Opp, a local carpenter, and stole a large steel mitre-box and two saws, it was reported today at the police station. The toolbox had been left in a new house which had just been built, in a walnut orchard at the southeast corner of Seventeenth and French streets.

SAVANTS MEET TO AIR GLEE CLUB ROW

Principals of the high schools of Orange county were scheduled to meet here at 3 p. m. today, in the office of D. K. Hammond, principal of the Santa Ana high school to iron out the situation developed when the girls' glee club of the Santa Ana school was awarded first place in the glee club section of the annual high school music contests held at the union high school in Fullerton Friday night.

Huntington Beach protested the award on the ground that the number of singers in the club was two in excess of the limit of twenty-four provided in regulations.

Explaining that two additional girls had joined the club at Fullerton without knowledge of those in charge, Hammond said today that the question involved now is whether the club should be disqualified or given a credit of points.

According to Hammond, members of the club listed prior to the contest, responded to their names. Another girl later joined the group and a young woman who had heretofore acted as accompanist, also stepped into the line. No count of the number was made by the director and it was not known that there were two additional persons in the chorus, it was claimed, until attention was directed to it by the protest.

"When the contest originated there was no limitation as to number, but this was changed last year to a definite limit of twenty-four," said Hammond. "Santa Ana had no intention of violating the regulation and it was entirely inadvertent. In other contests in the annual meet of the high school penalties are provided for infraction of rules, but none is provided in the regulation of the glee clubs. In view of the fact that no penalty is provided, the principals this afternoon will have to decide whether the club should be disqualified or be given some credit for its performance. Penalties also probably will be prescribed for controlling future contests."

SEES ESCORT'S ALIBI IN SUIT OF WOMAN

Charged with negligent operation of his automobile in connection with a suit against him for $5847 damages, C. E. Burrier, rancher residing northwest of Santa Ana, today was expected to take a course of defense in court tomorrow corresponding to what common parlance calls "passing the buck."

In his answer to the damage suit brought by Mrs. Nellie Vollmer, who claimed she was injured in a wreck while motoring as Burrier's guest, Burrier declared that his own driving was above reproach and that F. G. Harlan, with whose machine his car collided, was the one to blame.

The trial of Mrs. Vollmer's damage suit is scheduled to open at 10 a. m. before Superior Judge R. V. Williams. Mrs. Vollmer is represented by Attorney Loren W. Smith, Santa Ana, while the firm of Head, Rutan and Scovel represents Burrier.

The accident on which the suit was based occurred April 14, 1923, at the intersection of Buena Park road and Lincoln boulevard, which extends west from Anaheim. Mrs. Vollmer alleged in her complaint that Burrier, in making a turn at the intersection cut the traffic button in the center of the intersection. Burrier denies this charge.

Mrs. Vollmer's bill of particulars in the case listed her injuries at $2,000, loss of time from her business in a beauty parlor at $3,800, which time was worth $30 per day, she alleged, rent of a beauty parlor which the accident prevented her from occupying at Long Beach $25, medical expenses $12 and destruction of a vanity bag $10.

This action is voluntary or not. Therefore the most important privilege of the parent and teacher is to call the attention of the child to the highest ideals of life and by constantly impressing these ideals on his plastic mind, the child will become like these ideals.

In closing Dr. Dexter dedicated the new school to its task of instilling high ideals, stimulating the desire for knowledge and urged the fullest co-operation of all for the accomplishment of these purposes.

After another song by the Girls' Glee club, Rev. Looftbourrow pronounced the benediction.

SKILLED MUSICIANS HEARD FROM KFAW

A program of high entertainment quality was broadcast last night over KFAW by Prof. D. C. Cianfoni, trombone virtuoso; Miss Mabel Krause, pianiste; Joseph Pantaleone, tenor; and Samuel Ross Wyvill, astronomer. Orest Cianfoni, saxophonist, originally scheduled on the bill, was prevented from playing on account of illness.

Prof. D. C. Cianfoni played Saint-Saens' "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice" in faultless style as a trombone solo. Miss Krause's piano solos, the vocal numbers of Joseph Pantaleone and Wyvill's concluding talk on "Astronomy" contributed to a delightful hour for The Register's air audience.

The complete program follows: Piano solo, "Scherzo" from F. Flat Sonata (Chopin), Miss Mabel Krause; trombone solo, "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice" (Saint-Saens), Prof. D. C. Cianfoni; Miss Mabel Krause at the piano; tenor solos, (a) "For You Alone" (Geel), (b) "That Wonderful Mother of Mine" (Goodwin), Joseph Pantaleone; Miss Krause at the piano; piano solo, "Etude Caprice" (Ganz), Miss Krause; talk on astronomy, Samuel Ross Wyvill.

FIND DOORS TO 4 STORES UNLOCKED

Despite a warning issued several days ago by City Marshal L. C. Rogers, numerous business men still are reported careless about locking their offices and shops when they close for the night.

Today's records at the police station show four more places extended "invitations" to burglars. Officer W. J. Jenkins reported the office door of the Chapman Lumber company at Second and Bush streets was open and the key was lying on the floor.

Officer L. M. Ballard found the door unlocked at the Henderson & Jenkins Furniture company, 406 West Fourth street.

Officer W. H. Wolfel discovered Stein's garage at 609 West Fourth street unlocked, and the side door of the Temple theater was left open.

COUNCIL SPEEDS 4TH ST. SEWER

COUNCIL MOVES TO BOIL ALL GARBAGE

W. G. Knox, street superintendent, today was rushing to completion plans for the immediate boiling of city garbage delivered to the Dr. C. E. Price hog ranch west of the city, following appearance before the council last night of Dr. B. T. Woodward of Washington, D. C., representative of the United States bureau of animal industry, who requested that the action be taken as the means of closing one channel of possible spread here of the foot and mouth disease.

Unofficial estimates placed the possible expense in connection with the garbage boiling plan as probably $50 for equipping a garbage dump wagon with steam pipes; at least $1000 for an additional truck; and perhaps $375 a month for the hire of three additional men. Intimations at the council meeting were that the expense might be assessed on the city's water consumers.

At the same time the federal man recommended that the city consider the advisability of entering into a long-time contract with some one for purchase of the garbage in order that the hog owner may be justified in the expenditure of a large sum of money in establishing a modern and sanitary hog plant. He suggested ten years as the period of such a contract.

To Utilize Steam. Declaring that his long association with the department and his particular experience with at least three big epidemics of foot and mouth disease had convinced him that garbage was one of the greatest carriers of the plague, the federal man said that a hog plant with concrete feeding troughs and floors, with proper cleaning and disinfecting, would offer a great insurance against spreading of this disease, and would offer as well, in a measure, elimination of a fly breeding spot.

Dr. Woodward directed that in its preparation for boiling the garbage, which must be done before the hog feed can be taken outside the limits of the city, the city should see that its garbage wagon is water proof and that all equipment is cleaned and disinfected once every day.

Plans being developed provided for utilization of steam at the water works on First street for heating the garbage. It is proposed to extend a pipe from the steam plant to the city lot on Walnut street.

The street department now has but one truck for the collection of garbage. The collections must be boiled on the truck, and the material must stand for thirty minutes under a temperature of 170 degrees. This will necessitate the city purchasing another truck or working the present truck on two shifts. The latter course, it was intimated, would be followed as an emergency measure to make the boiling effective at once. Another truck probably will be added to the equipment later.

Might Sell Sewer Farm. It is conceded that the new program will cause a general dis-

Water Saving Meet Lures 3 of Council

Declaring that the conference to be held at Riverside May 15 for consideration of extensive flood control and water conservation plans was one of importance to the city as well as to Orange county, Councilman J. W. Tubbs, C. H. Chapman and Nat H. Neff and City Attorney Z. B. West Jr., announced their intention of attending the meeting.

Councilmen George McPhee and E. B. Collier said they would not be in position to accompany their colleagues. The men decided to represent the city following the reading of an invitation declaring that "Need of flood control and water conservation never was more apparent than at present."

COUNCIL GIVEN $4925 ON GAS FRANCHISE

That the Southern Counties Gas company is paying the city of Santa Ana approximately $400 per month for the privilege of serving consumers in the city, was revealed to the city council last night by presentation by J. C. Hayden, local district manager, of a check for $4925.19 in payment of the franchise tax for the past year. The tax is 2 per cent of the gross earnings of the company here.

Hayden was received with "open arms" and the check was "tenderly and thankfully" received for it dropped in, according to the trustees, at a moment when the city was closely distressed in the "region of its pocketbook."

A deed conveying to the city property needed for the extension of Richmond avenue west from Flower to Shelton street was submitted to the board and was referred to the city engineer for checking for determination of whether the instrument covered all the property required.

The bid of Wells and Bressler, the only one received, for paving Edinger street east from South Main to the Pacific Electric tracks of the Huntington Beach branch, was taken under advisement. The bid was 25 cents a square foot for five-inch pavement, 50 cents a lineal foot for curbing and 50 cents a lineal foot for house branch sewers.

Holliday and McCune were given permission to locate an auto wash rack at the corner of Main and First streets.

The city attorney advised that he had received word from the state housing commission that an inspector for the commission would be in the city next week to view properties here that some local authorities believe should be condemned.

The plumbing inspector was directed to change downspouts at the central fire station of Sycamore street that will divert storm waters from the sewer to the street.

A resolution was adopted requiring plans and specifications for paving East Nineteenth street, Main street to Broadway.

ORDER PAVING BE HEAVIER IN REPAIR

It is impossible properly to repair a paved street broken to in-stall public utilities equipment by repairing the break with the same thickness of pavement as originally laid, W. G. Knox, city engineer, last night declared in recommending to the council that repairs in the future be made by use of the same material employed in the original construction, but with thickness two inches greater than the original.

The council approved the recommendation, and made an order that all concerns tearing up the pavement be required to put down an added thickness of two inches when a trench is filled.

The council directed that the rule apply to repair of pavement on Orange avenue, broken by the city for installation of a sewer main.

Another stipulation of the federal representative was that boiling of the garbage should be checked up by a representative of the city other than the driver of the collection wagon.

It was shown that the order of Dr. Woodward would involve an expense that would have to be met as an emergency and that coming, as it does, immediately following heavy expenditures made by the city in controlling the typhoid fever epidemic, money to meet the additional outlay would have to be raised at once. While it was not definitely stated, it was intimated in discussions that water consumers of the city would have to carry the burden.

The hog ranch is located on the city's sewer farm of 140 acres. Suggestions of Dr. Woodward that a modern plant should be built produced suggestions by the council that it probably would be a wise policy to sell the property. The councilmen were advised to give the point serious consideration this week and come to the meeting next Monday evening prepared to take definite action.

TO PUSH DOWNTOWN LINE AS EMERGENCY MEASURE

Following declarations made that the main sewer line extending east and west in the middle of the block between Fourth and Fifth streets here is a menace and that serious damage may result momentarily by breaks that may flood basements of business houses along the course of the line, instructions were given last night for immediate presentation of plans for constructing a new line in the center of Fourth street, from Spurgeon or French streets to Ross street.

The construction will be put through as an emergency measure, with the city paying the cost of installation. Property owners on both sides of the street will be required to make connections at their own expense, it was decided.

In former discussions it was intimated that it would be necessary to build the new line from French street. Disclosures were made last night that the line between French and Spurgeon street is in an alley and that there probably would be no necessity for a change in that block.

It was estimated that installation of the main pipe line, which will be of twelve-inch capacity, will cost $5000—and it was intimated that the money would be developed by continuation of the double rate for city water.

This levy was established two months ago to meet emergency expenditure incident to rebuilding portions of the water distributing plant made necessary by discovery of contamination.

Charge McCartney Posing as DeMille

LOS ANGELES, May 6.—Grant McCartney, local real estate operator, wanted on a charge of "framing" divorce evidence on his wife and beating her, has been attempting financial deals in the southwest, local authorities have been informed.

McCartney is said to have been operating under the name of Robert De Mille, presumably posing as the brother of Cecil B. De Mille, film director, whom he resembles.

CITIZENS HALT TREE CUTTING BY CHURCH

BURLINGAME, Cal., May 6.—Citizens of Burlingame have no objections to the Methodist church being carted to a new location but, by gum, there'll be no shade trees leveled in the process.

It happened late yesterday, did this fracas between the church millit and equally militant householders, as movers urged the church building along the peaceful streets toward El Camino Real.

The movers had a permit to chop down any trees they found in their way, and on Primrose street they came to the first clump.

The tentative ring of an axe brought forth E. F. Gould armed with a shotgun.

"Move if you will that church ahead. Those trees are going to stand," he said, with the mixed spirit of Barbara Fritchie and '76.

Other citizens, armed, rallied to the clarion call to preserve the nation's forests.

The city fathers must decide the matter.

Stiff Jolts in 35 Booze Cases

TUSCON, Ariz., May 6.—Fines aggregating $11,350 and jail sentences of from three months to one year were today imposed by Federal Judge William H. Sawtelle on 35 prohibition law violators.

Among those sentenced was Alex McCay, 32, a widely known pioneer prospector. McCay will serve three months and pay a $500 fine.

P. E. O. Club

All P. E. O. clubs of the county are invited to attend the Reciprocity luncheon to be held at Obarr hall, Huntington Beach, at 1 p. m. Thursday, May 8. Unaffiliated P. E. O. clubs are especially urged to be represented at the luncheon for which elaborate plans are being made.

Members of either local chapter who wish to go are asked to telephone Mrs. Richard Emison, 2210, and transportation will be arranged and reservations made.

Women's Alliance

The Women's alliance of the Unitarian church will meet at the church tomorrow for an all-day sewing for the Social Service league. Anyone interested in sewing for that purpose is cordially invited to attend. A picnic luncheon will be enjoyed at noon.

Daughters of Confederacy

Mrs. Thomas L. Hill will entertain the Daughters of the Confederacy at her home, 725 Mortimer street, Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. All members are asked to be present to discuss the change in plans for the convention now scheduled for Los Angeles.

Current Events

Mrs. Isabel Tucker, 620 French street, will be hostess to Ebells' second section of Current Events, Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Miss Jennie Lasby will present her usual resume of the outstanding events of the month in world, national and state affairs. Mrs. Jack Cloyes, section leader, will preside over the business session.

Sycamore Rebekah

Members and friends of Sycamore Rebekah lodge are anticipating a merry evening tonight at 1. O. O. F. hall where the Sycamore folk will sponsor a dancing party. Llewellyn's orchestra will play and iced punch will be a refreshing feature of the evening.

ENJOY A GOOD NIGHT'S SLEEP

"I wish to say that FOLEY PILLS worked O. K. on me in a couple of hours and the pains left me at once. I took a couple of them in the afternoon, went to bed and had a good night's sleep and have slept good ever since," writes Con Thiel, 118 E. Columbia St., Ft. Wayne, Indiana. FOLEY PILLS, a diuretic stimulant for the kidneys, will thoroughly flush the kidneys and increase their activity. Sold everywhere.—adv.

A Perfect Skin

No blackheads, no blemishes ever

By Edna Wallace Hopper

Mine is a perfect skin—a skin which young girls envy. After 40 years as a stage star, I look like a girl of 19.

I owe all this to a rich, ambitious mother. She searched the world for methods to multiply my beauty and to keep her youth. Those helps made me a famous beauty, and they keep me a beauty still.

Now I have arranged so every girl and woman may have those identical helps. Thus I hope to bring to millions the benefits I got.

My Facial Youth

One is a liquid cleanser which I call my Facial Youth. It contains no animal, no vegetable fat. So it cannot grow hair on the face. It cannot assimilate in any way with the skin.

It simply penetrates the skin to the depths, penetrates every pore. When I wipe it off, all the dirt and grime, all that clogs the skin comes with it.

Clean the skin in the best other

One-fourth price

The greatest beauty experts now employ this liquid cleanser. Some supply it to dainty women, but at four times what I charge. No cleansing formula in existence can compare with this. And a clean skin is essential. Edna Wallace Hopper's Facial Youth is now supplied by all druggists and toilet counters at 75 cents per bottle. Also my Youth Cream—my fruit cold cream. Also my White Youth Clay—the utmost in facial clay. Also my Hair Youth, which brought my luxuriant hair. My Beauty Book comes with each.

I urge you to try Facial Youth. Learn what a really clean skin means. Let it do for you what it does for me. You will be amazed. Then, if you want my other helps, they are at your call. Edna Wallace Hopper, 536 Lake Shore Drive, Chicago. adv

Life In Buenos Aires Described By Guest Of Business Girls

It was with keen appreciation of her executive ability as well as interest in her achievements that Business and Professional Women yesterday listened to an informal talk by a business woman extraordinary, Miss Hester Robinson, recently arrived from Buenos Aires for a visit with her mother, Mrs. Margaret Robinson, 220 South Sycamore street.

In a friendly little manner, Miss Robinson outlined the steps by which she finally won a place in an advertising agency in the South American city while she was in New York. Her trip down and the experiences of an American girl in a foreign country were graphically told as were the different angles of her work.

Despite the success attained by Miss Robinson in her chosen field, she was not at all encouraging to those who might hope to "go and likewise" for with an American population of little more than 1000 in Buenos Aires, positions open to young women are very few. "With such different standards of conduct, American girls who work are looked at askance by the native South American, who is unable to understand the independence and executive ability of those of the Latin race," declared the speaker.

Miss Robinson's ability to wrest success from so unpromising a field was intensely interesting to those present, and all were ready with questions following her talk. In the talk itself and in the discussion which followed, facts of interest regarding climate, customs and manners were brought out by Miss Robinson who, following her visit here, will return to Buenos Aires to resume her place in the advertising agency which she has built up largely by her own efforts and of which she is manager.

Yesterday was the first luncheon and regular meeting of the club under the presidency of Miss Mabel McFadden. A large attendance of members and a few guests were present at St. Ann's Inn to greet the new president and enjoy the first program of the new club year.

Excellent things are hinted at for future meetings, among them the talk by Bruce E. Switzer, manager of the Rankin Drygoods store and himself a luncheon club member. Mr. Switzer's talk next Monday at the Inn will be along the line of the co-operation possible between the Business Women's club and worthwhile civic enterprises.

Miss Margaret Reid, a newcomer to the city and the club and a wide-traveled young woman, will also be among the speakers for the current month.

Regret was expressed by the club that G. A. Schweiger had resigned the management of the Inn, but success was wished him in his new field. The club recognized the fact that the club of the success of the meetings had depended upon the co-operation offered by Mr. and Mrs. Schweiger.

Date Is Announced For Capistrano Y. L. I.

An error was made yesterday in announcing the meeting of Capistrano Institute, Y. L. I. for this evening. Instead the meeting will be held next Tuesday, May 13.

Missionary Society

UNITED PRESBYTERIAN Tomorrow's meeting of the Missionary society of the United Presbyterian church will be at the manse, 216 Orange avenue when industrial work in the morning will be followed by a pot-luck luncheon and an interesting program.

Dr. J. T. Simpson, a medical missionary in India, will speak and all women of the church are invited to be present and hear her interesting talk.

FIRST BAPTIST Changing the plan of their usual all-day session at the church, members of the Woman's society of the First Baptist church will meet tomorrow afternoon rather than in the morning hours. At 2 o'clock the executive board will go in session and at 2:30 the business meeting will begin. Industrial activities and business matters will occupy the time until 6:30 when a pot-luck dinner to which husbands are invited, will be enjoyed in the dining room.

At 7:30 o'clock, the young women of the World Wide guild will offer an interesting program to which the general public is invited. The missionary play, "A Willing Captive In Japan" will be given under the direction of the senior counselor, Mrs. L. I. Baker.

Those taking part will be Mrs. Lola Marrs, the Misses Doris Kearns, Irene Cravath, Vivian Oldfield, Lorene Prior, Alice Rinehart, Mildred Fox, Edna Ingham, Alice Bullard, Goldie Fyfe and Maybelle Thurston.

Taking the parts of Japanese boys and girls will be Betty Lee, Beulah Bullard, Lee Hallock, Neal Adams, Helen Folsom, Coli Maret, Marie Steele and Raymond Bullard. No admission will be asked but a silver offering will be taken.

Fraternal Brotherhood

Thursday night when the Fraternal Brotherhood lodge meets at M. W. A. hall, entertainment will be offered by the women who will present many surprise features under the direction of Mrs. N. L. Galbraith, captain, and her lieutenant, Mrs. C. H. Jackson. Each woman is expected to come prepared to add something to the amusing program.

A Glimpse Into June Shows Usual Array Of Fair Brides

After a pronounced social lull, induced partly by the Lenten season and its period of inactivity and partly by the chain of unfortunate circumstances which has held the county and state in thrall, society is beginning to brighten up a bit, fluff up its skirts and smooth back its shingle bob, so to speak, getting ready for the usual rush of early summer affairs.

Of course, the bride—bless her—has always with us, and where brides there be parties there be as well. Hence the few social gaieties there have been during the past few weeks have practically all been to the accompaniment of wedding bells, heard or suspected.

And as June nears there are a number of delightful weddings scheduled, some to be church functions others to be quieter home affairs. Among the young people to take wedding vows either in May or June will be Miss Irene Coulson who will become the bride of John Steele Davidson of Pasadena at a smart wedding at St. Ann's Inn.

Jesse W. Kay, another Pasadena man, will claim a Santa Ana bride, Miss Florence Pierson while from Los Angeles is George L. Andrews whose fiancée is Miss Isabel Anderson, one of the most popular girls ever in Santa Ana.

Claremont will be the scene of the nuptials of Miss Ruth Schroeder and Howard Hunt Pattee, which is an event of the not far distant future. Miss Ruth Cope will soon become the bride of Fred Agreeably surprised was V. S. Rowley, of 722 South Main street, when yesterday afternoon as he was working in his garden, several automobile loads of friends from Los Angeles, Pasadena and Glendale, drove over to help him celebrate his birthday.

The merry affair had been planned by Mrs. Rowley who kept her husband in complete ignorance of such plans. Recovering from his surprise the host entered into the full enjoyment of the afternoon which was marked by song, recitations and stories, to say nothing of the refreshments served during the course of the affair.

Mr. and Mrs. Rowley have been in Santa Ana for a little over a year, coming from Los Angeles to establish a permanent home in what Mr. Rowley declares to be the "finest country in the state and the best place in the world to live." They made their home at Balboa for eight years so feel quite at home in the county.

Birthday guests yesterday included James Bryson, Mrs. Walter Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kinehan, Mr. and Mrs. George Kinehan, Mrs. Evelyn Kinehan, Mr. and Mrs. Vern Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Ransdell, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Lemmon, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Steele, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bryant, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Woolley, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hair, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Stanley, Mrs. E. W. Brooks, Mrs. Gertrude Carter, Jesslyn Hair, Virginia Stanley, Jeanne Brooks and Ben-Allen Woolley.

Woman's Union

CONGREGATIONAL The regular all-day meeting of the Woman's Union of the Congregational church will be held in the church parlors tomorrow. Business and work will begin at 10 o'clock. A pot-luck lunch will be served at noon. The serving committee is composed of Mesdames Woodhouse, Petrie, Neff and E. H. Rowland.

TO GIVE TRAVELOGUE At the Richland avenue church Friday night, W. M. Clayton, vice-principal of Polytechnic High school, will offer his illustrated travelogue, "A Trip to Washington," as a benefit for the church building fund.

Mr. Clayton's trip eastward was by way of the Grand Canyon and his return took him to Glacier National park so that his talk and pictures offer much more than the interesting facts regarding our national capital.

The lecture will begin at 7:30 p. m. and while no admission will be asked, a silver offering will be taken. Members of the second division of the Ladies' Aid society are sponsoring the affair.

Hill Climbers

The Hill Climbers, the recently organized club of S. Hill and Son, had a musical program at G. A. R. hall last night.

Spanish songs by Miss Eloise Pereyra, slide trombone solo by Claire Hanson, four numbers on the musical saw by Tracy Richardson accompanied by Stanley Tummond, Miss Viola Tummond accompanying, vocal solo by Leigh Galloway, clarinet solos by Albert Hill accompanied by Mrs. Hill, all combined to offer a delightful program.

During the social hour which followed, refreshments were served.

W. C. T. U.

Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, Mrs. S. W. Suddaby of Main street, Tustin, will entertain the Tustin W. C. T. U. the date being advanced from the usual Thursday to avoid conflicting with the P. T. A.

Mrs. Gregg of Whittier will be present to aid in organizing a child study class which will use the state university course. The program will be under the direction of Mrs. Earl Murray and Mrs. Rinard. All mothers of young children are especially invited to be present.

Shiloh Circle

The stated session of Shiloh Circle, Ladies of the G. A. R. will be held at G. A. R. hall Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Former Local Artist Asked to Exhibit In Print Room

Santa Ana friends and all members of the West Coast Arts were today delighted to learn of the completion paid the work of Evelyn Nunn Miller, a member of the West Coast Arts, whose pictures of Japan and Oriental life in general have attracted so much attention since her return from the orient.

Mrs. Miller has been invited by the Southwest museum, to exhibit her travel pictures in the famous print room of the museum some time the latter part of this month. The invitation is one of the pleasantest compliments an artist can receive as under no other circumstances may work be exhibited there. That it was a thoroughly merited one for Mrs. Miller, all her friends agree and many from this city are planning to attend the exhibit.

Prior to her marriage and while, as Miss Evelyn Nunn, the artist was in this city with her mother, Mrs. M. A. Nunn, 802 North Ross street, she maintained regular visiting days each week when her pictures were on display in the artistic little studio she devised here. Oriental scenes and especially those of the Holy Land formed an interesting exhibit at the Cannel and Chaffin galleries in Los Angeles last fall.

Berkeley Graduate Is To Bring Bride For Visit Ere Long

Mrs. Herbert Gray arrived in Santa Ana today to visit her mother and sister, Mrs. M. A. Edwards and Miss Katherine Edwards of 607 1/2 South Birch street.

Mrs. Gray comes here after a month's visit with her son, Fitzhugh Gray, and his bride, formerly Miss Mary Blake of Santa Ana. The young couple will also visit soon in Santa Ana as guests of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Blake of South Bristol street, and in the Edwards home.

Mr. and Mrs. Gray are Santa Anans; both being graduates of Santa Ana High school. Mr. Gray is a graduate of the University of California at Berkeley and his bride is a graduate of Pomona college.

The Register together with a host of friends in the city and community, tenders congratulations and best wishes on the marriage which, known to the members of the family, was only disclosed to friends a short time ago.

Honolulu Guest Honored at Party

Mrs. Gordon Gibb of Honolulu formerly Miss Blossom Ward of this city, was honor guest at a pleasant little affair last night when Miss Gwendolyn Hoyle entertained the members of her bridge club at her home, 1419 Durant street.

Vari-colored spring flowers were used in decoration and card tables were arranged for a series of lively games in which Miss Rebecca Joplin carried off honors, winning a pretty colored linen guest towel. A bottle of French talcum powder was presented to Mrs. Gibb as a guest gift.

Late in the evening as the players retained their places at the card tables, which were attractively centered with lilacs of the valley, forget-me-nots and Cecil Brunner roses, they were served with strawberry shortcake and coffee. Mrs. Norman Hoyle assisted her daughter in serving.

Enjoying the pleasant evening were the hostess and her mother, Miss Gwendolyn Hoyle and Mrs. Norman Hoyle, the honor guest, Mrs. Gordon Gibb, Mrs. Jack Campbell, Mrs. Ralph Cole, Mrs. William Johnson, Mrs. Roy Handy who recently moved to Long Beach, Miss Blanche Hill, Miss Glenna Jean Hill and Miss Rebecca Joplin.

Honor Students Enjoy Glenwood Mission Inn

Junior College honor students and faculty members were unanimous today in their appreciation of the entertainment last evening at Glenwood Mission Inn, Riverside, where the honor society students were guests of the faculty.

Leaving the school here early in the afternoon hosts and guests arrived at the Inn in time to be taken through from towers to kitchen by the expert guide. Dinner served at 6 o'clock was followed by an organ and vocal recital in the chapel until the hour for the return trip home.

It is the custom of the college faculty to entertain the honor students once a year and the students pronounced this year's event, the best possible.

No Hoodoo Is Feared By Pioneer Y Boys On Beach Party

Regardless of the possibilities of a hoodoo, thirteen boys of the Spurgeon Pioneer Y class of the Spurgeon Methodist church, picnicked on the sands below Balboa Saturday with their leader L. W. Slaback, accompanied by Mrs. Slaback and Mrs. Cood Adams.

A hike around the bay and along the breakwater, ball games, racing and other sports, created a tremendous appetite for a beach dinner of finger rolls, "weenies", baked beans, salad, apple pie and cheese, together with orangeade, apples and walnuts.

Those present were Cardwell Oglesby, chief hunter; Robert Chapman, ranger; Cecil Slaback, treasurer; Raymond Todd, Jack Granger, Wilfred Charr, Kenneth this, Thoburn White, Kenneth Sprague, James Parks, Charles Adams, William Cheney and William Milam.

Local Folk Attend Art Club Party

Motoring into Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Northross and Miss Beulah May enjoyed the recent party of the California Art club held in the club rooms at the Otis Art Institute where an amateur vaudeville performance by noted folk of the organization, offered an evening of rare entertainment.

A "political caucus" in which Henry de Krief appeared as a satirist was one of the funniest of the evening's events. Arrayed in a hastily assembled costume topped with Miss May's hat, the eminent artist gave a uniquely faithful portrayal of the character. Another event in which he starred was a dialogue between "Dada" and "Mike Angelo."

Needed Information on LAYETTES

is freely offered to all mothers-to-be this week especially

Baby Week May 5th to 11th

Prospective mothers who are a trifle worried concerning the wardrobes their babies should have will find it a wonderful aid to have at hand the complete information we are able to give. We are devoting "Baby Week" to this subject particularly—to helping you prepare the Layette, showing you the uses of the garments, the proper ways to put them on, etc., and telling you how to make garments which you would rather do yourself. Service, with no thought of sales, is the purpose of the Betty Rose Shop this week.

"Vanta" is the word that tells all when Layettes are under discussion. We carry the complete Vanta lines to the exclusion of everything else! The materials are wonderfully soft and fine, there are no pins or buttons on Vanta wear, and they are reasonable in price. We hem diapers free, when bought with Layettes.

STEFANSSON ON TRIP TO ARID AUSTRALIA

(By United Press Landed Wire)
SAN FRANCISCO, May 6.—Vilmar Stefansson, famous arctic explorer, expects to sail from San Francisco for Australia today to explore the supposedly arid interior of that continent.

"Ignorance of many parts of the earth has led people to suppose them worthless, unfit for human habitation," the explorer said. "In my explorations I have found many lands favorable and pleasant for human life which had been considered too forbidding. It was because people did not know. It was true of the arctic and I am sure it will be true of Australia. Many years ago Eastern people thought the western part of the United States was one great desert. Familiarity showed them their error."

Stefansson will explore the Australian deserts with an airplane expedition, all arrangements for which have been completed, he said.

URGE SEWER LINE TO VISTA DEL MAR

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 6.—City Engineer L. F. Gates was last night instructed by the city trustees at their regular meeting to prepare the plans and specifications, cross sections and profiles, and an estimate of cost for a sewer line along Alabama street from Jolie to serve a large portion of the Vista Del Mar tract. The matter was brought before the council by a petition signed by about twenty-five people.

A petition to drain an alley in an outlying district was read and referred to the city engineer for investigation. A petition asking the paving of the alley in block 304 between Olive and Orange streets was taken under advisement.

City Engineer Gates was instructed to draw plans and specifications, cross sections and profiles, for the paving of California street between Detroit and Geneva streets. The paving will be of a three inch base and a two inch top. The installation of lights and sidewalks were also asked.

City Clerk William Wright was instructed to investigate action taken by other Orange county cities on the communication from the California League of Municipalities in regard to the division of the gasoline tax, and report at the next meeting.

Name Committees Of Brea Chamber

BREA, May 6.—At a recent meeting of the board of the Chamber of Commerce, chairman of the different committees were appointed and the president formally chosen. W. D. Schaffer, who received the highest number of votes was chosen president by the board.

Others who were appointed are: A. J. Severson, vice president; E. A. Gurley was retained as secretary; committee chairman, educational, A. J. Severson; good roads, A. V. Sullivan; relief and charity, Ed. Paterson; post office and post roads, A. J. Leutinger; publicity, J. E. Rymer; health and sanitation, W. C. Baldwin; telephone and telegraph, J. R. Collins; membership, W. D. Schaffer; industrial, E. C. Olmstead; entertainment, C. C. Jarvis; auditing, W. E. Fanning.

Members of the board are optimistic in the outlook for this coming year and are starting to make it one of the best in the history of the Brea Chamber of Commerce.

Beach Man Faces $1000 Note Suit

R. C. Woerz of Balboa was plaintiff today in a suit on file in the superior court here, in which he asks judgment against F. H. Owen for $350, alleged to be due on a note; also for $738.67 said to be unpaid in connection with an agreement by which Owen, it was alleged, was to pay Woerz $1000 in twelve monthly installments.

Attorneys Ira Brunk and Charles A. Barnhart, Los Angeles, represent the plaintiff.

CATALINA LINE CONSIDERED AT BEACH

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 6.—The city clerk was last night instructed by the city trustees to include in the city budget for adoption in July a item for the expenditure of $6000 for the construction of a landing float to be anchored between piling off the end of the city pier for the accommodation of steamers plying between here and Catalina Island. Fishing boats would also be allowed to make use of the landing float.

James Macklin brought the matter to the attention of the council, declaring that during the past year there has been applications from at least three different boat lines asking permission to run to the local pier. The concrete pier here is not suitable to moor boats as the rough seas at the end of the pier would tend to knock the boat and the pier to pieces.

The matter has been in the course of investigation for some time and came as the direct result of a petition to the board recently for the permission to swing a row boat from the end of the pier.

According to the investigators the proposed float or pier would be constructed of wooden piles driven in a square with a float constructed between the piles in such a manner that it would rise and fall with the tide. The cost of such a landing place for boats would cost about $6000, it was stated.

Should such a float come to be realized it is pointed out that Huntington Beach would have the only line to be operated from Orange county to Catalina. Many people would also welcome the chance to go deep sea fishing in vessels leaving from this city. Long Beach is at the present time over crowded, it was stated, with the fishing vessels which leave from the piers there. The matter will be taken up at the first meeting of the board in July when provision for the building of the float will have been made in the year's budget.

FIND CRASH FATAL TO MAN ACCIDENTAL

Relatives and friends of Fred L. Clark, aged 66, who received injuries Saturday that resulted in his death, today were prepared to conduct last day rites at services to be held tomorrow at 3:30 p. m. from the Smith and Tutthill chapel here, following a verdict of acquittal yesterday by a coroner's jury.

When the truck driven by Clark was demolished by a touring car piloted by James Briggs, traveling the latter automobile was traveling at an excessive speed, the jury reported. Suffering with a fractured skull, Clark was removed from the crash scene at Camarillo and taken to the Santa Ana Valley hospital here, where death followed.

There is little probability manslaughter charges will be preferred against young Briggs, it was stated by C. N. Mozley, chief deputy district attorney, following the inquest.

The Rev. H. G. Burgess of the Richmond avenue Methodist Episcopal church will officiate at the funeral. Interment will be made in fairhaven cemetery.

Pays $20 Fine and Now Asks License

A. Cabrera, proprietor of a billiard hall at Los Alamitos, today was awaiting action by the board of supervisors here on his application for a license to operate his establishment, he having paid a fine of $20 for failure to have such license.

Cabrera appeared late yesterday before Justice J. B. Cox and paid the fine. He said he had just purchased the billiard hall and did not know a county license was required. He asked permission to continue operating the hall until his license, filed yesterday, could be acted on by the supervisors.

"F. H. I." Say Advertisers to Plant Owners In Denouncing "Anti" Propaganda

National advertisers have no intention of discontinuing medium as reported by Committee for Restriction of Outdoor Advertising

The National Committee for Restriction of Outdoor Advertising has started something it can not finish. It has gotten the newspapers of the country in very wrong with the national advertisers. It has gotten many national advertisers very, very sore at a wilful little group of propagandists up in Glenn Falls, N. Y. Mrs. W. L. Lawton, chairman of the National Committee for Restriction of Outdoor Advertising of Glenn Falls, N. Y., some time ago started a campaign against objectionable outdoor displays.

That was fine. Everybody agreed. Letters were mailed to many national advertisers, who expressed themselves as favorable toward the movement—but also explained their stand as favorable toward outdoor advertising. That was fine, too.

The newspapers got the reports—and that was good, too, but the reports were distorted and re-vamped until they said things the national advertisers had no intention of saying.

That was very bad! Let us review the general newspaper report syndicated recently:

"Fifteen corporations have agreed to abolish billboards and poster advertising, which have disfigured highways and marred scenery it was announced tonight by Mrs. W. L. Lawton, chairman of the National Committee for Restriction of Outdoor Advertising."

"The companies include Kirkham & Son, soap manufacturers; Kelly-Springfield Tires; Pillsbury Flour Mills; Washburn-Crosby Co.; Standard Oil of California; Champion Spark Plug; B. F. Goodrich, tires; Sun Oil; Hood Rubber; Ajax Rubber; Ward Baking; Dodge Bros.; Gulf Refining, oil; Fleischmann's Yeast."

The foregoing is merely a part of the newspaper release, however, it will give a fair idea of the report that was sent out—that "fifteen corporations have agreed to abolish outdoor advertising placed in the national committee by the national advertisers who replied in good faith and confidence to its letters."

SIGNS OF THE TIMES has duplicates of many of the letters mailed by these national advertisers to the national committee. SIGNS OF THE TIMES also has received a number of letters from these misquoted advertisers. Let us read over a few of them and digest the TRUTH.

M. Hutchinson, advertising manager of the Pillsbury Flour Mills, says: "The original statement made by our president has been badly distorted in its reprinting, and it is perhaps well that

H. S. Brunt, Public Relations Dept., Executive Office of Proctor & Gamble, Cincinnati, O. Our Company is in sympathy with the movement now on foot to restrict highway advertising. We have no reason why we should not be so. We are not in favor of the elimination of all outdoor advertising. We are in favor of the elimination of outdoor advertising which is a nuisance and obstruction. We do not see the necessity of joining your organization."

"We use now, and will continue to use, legitimate forms of outdoor advertising. The standard twenty-four sheet posters which are placed in commercial locations, assuming that such locations have already been approved by the community. This form of outdoor advertising should not be confused with highway signs."

H. R. Hurd, advertising manager for the Kelly-Springfield Tire Co., says: "We are glad to reply to your letter of the 2nd, as it gives us a chance to make our position in the matter of outdoor display clear."

It is not true that we are discontinuing outdoor advertising. What we are dropping is the painted highway bulletins. We are using posters more extensively and expect to continue to use them.

"The fact is, we are growing agitated against highway bulletins, but we do not believe that there is the same feeling against the painted highway bulletins. We should not make use of this very valuable medium—Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, H. R. Hurd, advertising manager."

M. C. DeWitt, vice-president of the Champion Spark Plug Co., says: "THE TIMES with a copy of the original statement made to the ladies by R. A. Stranahan, president of the Champion Spark Plug Co., has published a statement which is a distortion of the truth."

Dear Madam: I have your circular letter protesting against the promiscuous use of display advertising and am heartily in sympathy with the movement."

"I am thoroughly convinced that outdoor display advertising has vastly overstepped the bounds of good business judgment and is doing a great deal of harm to the community. We will gladly welcome legislation which would absolutely prevent the use of commercial locations and under proper restrictions to protect residences and civic architecture."

The Ajax Co., Inc., issued instructions to their advertising department: "that all advertising on the part of this company where in display boards or other forms of outdoor advertisements are done that our advertisements do not appear in locations where they would mar scenic or property value."

Ward Baking Co.: "We are in hearty accord with you that all outdoor advertising signs should not be placed at any location where they will mar scenic or property value."

Gulf Refining Co.: "We are in sympathy with your movement and will instruct our advertising people to select locations for posters so far as possible to commercial locations."

So there you have it! Boiled down to its essence, it is simply this—that in their attempt to enforce private opinions upon the public the National Committee for Restriction of Outdoor Advertising has perverted the facts and ludicrously misquoted representative national advertisers."

It is rank propaganda, propaganda that won't go over with an intelligent public."

In an honest endeavor to eliminate objectionable outdoor advertising any movement founded on truth will have the zealous support and earnest co-operation of all outdoor advertising men and advertisers."

But the so-called self-styled National Committee, with the prepared propaganda, is unworthy of any such support."

Because it has violated the confidence of the public and the newspapers, by misquoting the letters of national advertisers."

Because it has revealed a spirit of animosity and not of co-operation."

Ever since outdoor advertising began, way back in the early days of history, there has been more or less esthetic objection to the medium. However, 95 per cent of the improvement that has been effected in the medium has been effected by the outdoor advertising men themselves."

Improvement has come from within, not from without."

Right now the outdoor advertising purveyors are more active than ever in the improvement of their medium, active not because of esthetic coercion, but because it is plain, common-sense business that outdoor advertising displays present an attractive appearance."

It is to be hoped that the newspapers that printed the misinformation broadcasted by your publication is taking the matter up and will give publicity to an accurate statement of the situation." Mr. Hutchinson's letter in full is as follows:

Editor, SIGNS OF THE TIMES:

I am glad to have an opportunity to present an authentic statement regarding our position concerning outdoor advertising because of the many distortions made of letters recently written by us to the women's clubs which are co-operating to do away with objectionable locations of billboards which mar the scenic beauty of our National Highways."

In response to letters from the secretaries of several women's clubs our president assured them most sincerely to co-operate with them in their expressed intention to preserve the beauty of our country by elimination of many of the "eye sores" which had been erected needlessly in locations where their presence utterly ruined otherwise beautiful landscape. Our position in this matter remains unchanged."

However, in writing the club women and outlining such position our president informed them that this department had received instructions to confine our outdoor advertising wherever possible to commercial locations and in all instances to locations which could in no wise be objectionable in so far as they might constitute a blemish on any picturesque landscape. Our position in this regard has been commended by the club women who agree that outdoor advertising has a very definite place in the merchandising of commodities and that if kept within the bounds of reason it will meet with no objection from any fair-minded person."

We are now using painted walls, painted bulletins and paper posters throughout the country and it is our present intention to continue to use this form of advertising. Definite instructions have been passed to all companies from whom we purchase sign space to see that none of our advertising appears on any locations which could in any way be construed as offensive by one who is sincere in their endeavor to protect the natural beauty of our country, and we feel that this position can elicit criticism from no sources."

I trust the foregoing statement will serve your purpose.—M. Hutchinson, Pillsbury Flour Mills Co.

The National Committee for the Restriction of Outdoor Advertising will be just as liberal in printing the truth as indicated by the advertisers themselves."

Mr. C. W. Yonge, Vice-President, Yonge-Elliott Company, P. O. Box 388, Santa Ana, Calif. Dear Mr. Yonge: Answering your favor of March 26th, let me say that it is extremely difficult to check the results accomplished by outdoor advertising."

Though I have used it for many years I have never devised any way of tracing results directly to it. I have heard that the Palmolive people relate instances of women shoppers coming into drug stores and asking questions like many others of the kind "that schoolgirl complexion." These results, it is said, were traceable directly to billboard advertising. However, we have never been able to trace results directly to any of our boards. Very truly yours, Ventura Advertising Company, Frank G. Hobart, Advertising Manager."

Yonge-Elliott Co., 211 Hill Bldg., Santa Ana, Calif. Gentlemen: Replying to your letter of the 26th inst. we consider outdoor advertising one of the best mediums for advertising. It is not to be denied that hundreds of people are riding along the Boulevard every day and either see or pass the billboards. It is our intention to continue to use it."

If we get nothing more than the word Cadillac across to them which is our aim, we will feel compensated for the results that it will bring."

We think that outdoor advertising is essential to our business. Very truly yours, Cadillac Garage Company, By O. R. Haan."

Yonge-Elliott Company, P. O. Box 388, Santa Ana, Calif. Gentlemen: Anything I might say regarding outdoor advertising would be unofficial. However, we do not use it for publicity purposes. Personally, I feel that the results obtained from our billboard boards have been excellent, although like many others we have heard that it is difficult to determine just what volume of business it does produce for us. We do not believe that it has done much to our business, and at this time, I do not know of any other form of advertising that might take the place of this medium. I am "sold" on the idea of poster service because it would give us an opportunity to change copy frequently."

I mention this because we have four major products in our line that we are featuring, and on poster service we are changing one of these products in each change of copy. Yours very truly, Patton-Pittman Division, Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co., C. M. Shaw, District Manager."

Yonge-Elliott Co., P. O. Box No. 388, Santa Ana, Calif. Gentlemen: Replying to your inquiry of March 26th would state that while we, of course, can keep no regular check on the results derived from our advertising, we are placing for us, we are pleased to say that we have had various comments from people passing along the highway both here and there and San Diego and between here and San Francisco. These acquaintances of ours have spoken favorably of our advertising and have said along the road which we noticed coming into Los Angeles, "It sure is a good ad."

Therefore, we have received satisfactory results from this class of advertising as you know we are doing practically no other type of advertising at this time, except occasional slides on the screen in certain moving picture places. Therefore, if we get sales results from advertising now it must come from either the highway or the theatres—our view remaining as heretofore that EAST-SIDE speaks for itself and in all we claim for "The Perfect Brev." Very truly yours, Los Angeles Brewing Co., By John G. Zobein, its Vice-President."

Mr. C. W. Yonge, Yonge-Elliott Company, Inc., 211 Hill Bldg., Santa Ana, Calif. Dear Mr. Yonge: I am taking this opportunity to advise you how satisfactory the billboard advertising which you have been doing for the Ambassador and Alexandria Hotels has been. Billboard advertising seems to us very essential, and a medium from which exceedingly good results are obtained. We receive many comments from guests and friends on the attractiveness of these boards which proves that they are observed by a great many people."

With best wishes for your continued success, I remain, Yours very truly, The Ambassador, Los Angeles, John Brown, Advertising Manager."

Plant Owner Discusses Standard Oil's New Policy: Re. Road Displays

SIGNS OF THE TIMES for April editorially complimented the Standard Oil Company of California for dismantling the signs it had been maintaining along the public highways of the western states. In discussing the situation, George W. Kleiser, of the outdoor advertising firm of Foster & Kleiser, San Francisco, Cal., said:

"We are pleased to note the announcement of the Standard Oil Company that they intend to remove their small advertising signs along the highways of the States of California, Oregon, Washington, Nevada and Arizona. It has been the policy of Foster & Kleiser, since they lit up the highways and are of questionable advertising value. If other concerns maintaining similar signs would follow the lead of the Standard Oil Company and remove their small signs, a decided improvement in the appearance of the highways would be accomplished."

The policy of our company is to maintain standardized high-class advertising structures on leased property principally in commercial localities. At all times we are careful to avoid the placing of signs in scenic beauty spots or in any locality or neighborhood where they detract from the scenic beauty of the country. We believe that standardized outdoor advertising structures, properly located and properly kept, have a recognized place in the business world and can create no reason for objection or criticism."

Geo. W. Kleiser.

IDENTIFY SOLOISTS OF 'THE CREATION'

The names of the soloists and the concert master of the thirty artists from the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra who will participate in "The Creation" at the Orange high school auditorium, the night of Tuesday, May 13, were given out by the director of the Orange County Oratorio society today.

They include Alice Forsythe Mosher, soprano of Hollywood, who has sung in concerts with the Philharmonic orchestra and who will take the arias of Gabriel and Eve; D. B. Chambers of Los Angeles, likewise a tenor of note, who will sing the part of Uriel, and Leslie

Brigham, bass, who will represent Raphael and Adam. These singers will appear together with a chorus of eighty voices recruited from various parts of the county. "The Philharmonic orchestra," a society statement said, "is well-known to music lovers of Orange county and when the director of that famous organization declares that he will lend thirty of his best artists to furnish the accompaniment for the 'Creation' we can be assured that that part will also be well taken care of. The concert master is Julius Bierlich."

VISITS AT LAGUNA BEACH

LAGUNA BEACH, May 6.—Mrs. Sarah L. Thurston of Santa Ana, mother of Joseph S. Thurston and Mrs. Ernest Little of Laguna Beach, has been the guest of Mrs. Little for the past two weeks. Mrs. Thurston is 83 years old and one of the pioneers of this section of the country.

LONG ILLNESS OF SINGER IS TOLD HERE

Joseph Conlin, American tenor who is coming to Santa Ana Thursday evening in concert at the high school auditorium, is described as the last operatic scholar of the late Maestro Lombardi of Florence, Italy. Maestro Lombardi was the teacher of Caruso and recognized as the greatest voice teacher of musical history.

Advance literature concerning him was given out here as follows: "Joseph Conlin is truly an artist of which any American audience can be justly proud. Conlin was in the American army during the World war. He served with Battery 'A' of the 27th Reg. C. A. C. He has a war record as a soldier and artist that has not been surpassed by any living tenor of international reputation."

"During his army service Conlin received an illness caused by gas inhalation that has seriously impaired his eyesight and hearing. He has been ill for more than five years and has undergone four operations in his efforts to regain his health."

"Conlin sang at Pomona April 10 in his first public concert since 1921. He is to repeat his Pomona concert May 13. His Santa Ana concert will be his second public concert since 1921. Conlin has only regained the use of his singing voice in the past few months. His voice training has stood him well through all his depressions and it is hoped that he will be able to return to concert and opera in the east early this fall. This will be his only Santa Ana concert."

BARGAIN DAY AT PLACENTIA DRAWS

PLACENTIA, May 6.—One of the busiest and most exciting days for some time past was experienced by the people of Placentia Saturday, May 3, the day of the big booster ticket drawing. A great many dollars were spent during the day at the various dollar sales the merchants had.

During the past week Harmony and Hahn, local jewelers, have had a large number of articles on display in their window. These articles were valued in price ranging from one dollar to fifteen dollars. On Saturday these articles were wrapped in separate boxes of all sizes and sold for one dollar each. Sales such as this induced the people to shop in Placentia.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon there was a band concert by the Fullerton union high school band. They also played again from 6:30 until 7 o'clock. It is estimated that about 3000 people were in town at the time of the drawing.

The judges were John R. Scott, Charles E. Lee, H. H. Hale, Louis Jacobsen and Lisle R. Morehouse. H. S. Leavitt, clerk of the local school board, drew the tickets from the huge can. The first prize of $100 was won by Mr. White, postmaster of Placentia. The second prize of $50 was awarded to Mr. Hall, who works on the McKee ranch near here. The first $10 prize was won by H. L. Cook, Placentia; second $10 prize, Gilbert Kraemer, Placentia; third $10 prize, Mrs. Leavitt, Placentia; fourth $10 prize, Mrs. A. S. Bradford, Placentia; fifth $10 prize, Mr. Martinez, Placentia. First $5 prize was awarded to Harry Easton, Placentia; second $5 prize, Mrs. J. C. Glenn, Placentia; third $5 prize, Mr. Hahn, Placentia; fourth $5 prize, Albert Woolsey; fifth $5 prize, George Solesbee, Placentia. After the drawing, there was an auction of used cars next to the Liberty Garage. About 100 couples enjoyed the free dance in the garage immediately following the auction.

Killing of Horse Case Man Turns On His Accuser

Julian Lopez of Westminster, who recently filed a complaint charging Robert Hazard, Westminster rancher, with killing two of Lopez's horses that strayed to the Hazard place, was himself facing today a criminal charge sworn to by Hazard. Hazard charged Lopez and his brother, Frank Lopez, with violating the county ordinance that prohibits allowing animals to run at large.

Hazard, when the charge was filed against him, declared that he killed the horses on instructions from William Varcoe, county humane officer. He then took steps to retaliate by bringing the charge against Lopez. Both cases have been set for trial in Justice J. B. Cox's court here for the same day, June 16. Justice Cox stated he would have the matter threshed out at one hearing.

ANAHEIM FOLK TO HEAR OF L. A. PLAN

ANAHEIM, May 6.—The campaign for a "greater Los Angeles" and the industrial promotion of the territory contingent to Los Angeles will be carried to Anaheim Tuesday, May 13, when speakers from the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce will be the guests of the Anaheim chamber at a big get together dinner to be held at the Anaheim Elks' clubhouse.

Anaheim will be asked to become one of the half hundred cities in the Southland that are combining in a great move to make of this territory an industrial center second to none on the Pacific coast. The dinner is for the purpose of informing the people of Anaheim as to the plans of the general committee and will be given without charge to the individual.

The speakers who are scheduled for the Anaheim meeting are Harry Merritt, president of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce; S. H. Woodruff, engineer; who was responsible for the reconstruction work in San Francisco after the great fire, and A. E. Warmington, secretary of the Greater Los Angeles committee.

STONE LADEN BODY IS FOUND IN RIVER

MEDFORD, Ore., May 6.—Authorities today had not identified the body of a young man found by fishermen Sunday in the Rogue river.

The body was wired to a 50-pound rock, while one of the trouser legs had been tied about the bottom and stuffed with rocks. No marks of violence were found and the weighing had been done in such a manner it was not clear whether the case was murder or suicide.

The only mark of identification was a trade mark in the cap, "Money Back Jack, Oroville, Cal." A willow stick whittled with the words "goodbye mother" on one side and "I miss" on the other, supported the suicide theory.

BLAME EXAMS STRAIN

Sit on Walks at Home to Practice, Revelation:
Students Npurturbed

Oh to be young again.
But why not, say Santa Ana junior college co-eds and males and thereupon they revive childhood pastimes with a college jacks tournament.

Unknown to college tradition or to past experience, a brand new indoor college sport appeared on the scene today to amuse both students and faculty.

Perhaps it is only a means of "blowing off steam," or of using up excess energy not used in studies, commented E. M. Nealley, psychology professor, who was trying to find a logical reason for a college girls' jacks tournament.

At least it is new, novel and interesting, say students who may be seen at their homes sitting on the front sidewalks practicing for the tournament. Final exams are only six weeks away and the poor hard-working student must have some means of relieving the terrific mental strain caused in anticipation of final examinations. So they say.

Just to make it a nice jolly college affair the girls have extended equal rights to the men and the drawings for the first round of the tournament show each girl matched against a man in the first contests. Twenty-four men and girls are entered and prizes of an indefinite nature are offered. The committee in charge consists of the Misses Persna Deimling, Ida Griset and Lucie McDermott.

Sounds silly maybe, the students say, but they insist there's fun involved.

Fly Wheel Whirls Oil Field Worker To Sudden Death

WHITTIER, May 6.—Killed in a tragedy on his birthday was the fate of Joe Bowman, 49, an oil worker, dead here today.

Bowman was being congratulated on his anniversary by fellow employees in the Union Oil company field, at Santa Fe Springs. In some manner, his clothing caught in a fly wheel and he was pulled into the machinery. He was dead when his co-workers reached him.

DECISION ON 'MISS SANTA ANA' TO BE MADE IN RACE NOW ON IS BEING AWAITED

Thrill of Lifetime Offered
At National Convention of Moose, Is View

To which one of this city's fair daughters will fall the happy lot of being "Miss Santa Ana" in New York, during the national convention of Moose to be held there early this summer?

This question is growing in importance here, as more and more young women are entering the beauty and popularity contest which Santa Ana lodge No. 1025, Loyal Order of Moose, is conducting in this city, according to Frank M. Brown, who is in charge of the contest.

There is offered.
"There is a mighty thrill for many a girl in the possibility of winning the local contest and thereby being given a trip to New York with all expenses paid, and to be crowned and feted in the nation's metropolis," Brown declared.

The entry of Miss Jacqueline Vickroy of Santa Ana was announced today.

When interviewed Miss Vickroy said:
"Although I am not very hopeful of being the lucky girl, I am certainly willing to take a chance on winning."

Formerly in Movies.
"Whoever wins will have won a prize the memory of which she will treasure the rest of her life."

"Some lucky girl will have a chance to see one of her fondest dreams come true—the dream which nearly all girls have at some time in their lives: to appear on the stage or in a movie."

Miss Vickroy spent most of her life in Los Angeles where for some time she was employed in motion pictures. Since coming to Santa Ana she has been engaged in the business world.

Brown announced that contestants should whenever possible bring a photograph with them when they come to the contest headquarters to enroll their names, and added that contest headquarters will be open every day from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. with the exception of Sundays and holidays. The headquarters is in the Leo Hartfield Jewelry store, 106 East Fourth street.

STRIKING DRESS MARKS JUNIOR HIGH PLAY

Colorful and airy summer dresses will strikingly mark the attire of the cast and choruses of girls in the presentation by students of the Julia C. Lathrop junior high school of the elaborate two-act operetta "A Nautical Knot," at the high school auditorium Thursday afternoon and Friday night, it was disclosed today by Miss Edith Cornell, director.

Youths, however, taking the part of artists that vie for the love of the emblems of the seaport village of Barnstapole, where the action is laid, Miss Cornell added, will don vari-colored trousers and natty flowing ties, to be contrasted by slouchy hats.

More than 175 students of the school will take part in the sprightly production, written by Maudie Elizabeth Inch and termed by the publishers, "As breezy and beneficial as a sea voyage."

Romance, embarrassing love tangles and surprising climaxes brighten the operetta, Miss Cornell explained, adding that the wholesome vigor and merriment called for in the text would be pleasing to the auditors.

Virginia Brannon of the 6-C grade carries the lead, while in other "heavier" roles are Katherine Hearn, Joseph Warner, Wallace Grebe, Herman Kirmse and

SHORT HAIR IS APPROVED FOR TEACHERS

School Trustees Favor It
In Some Instances
"It Is Learned"

Instead of officially frowning upon school teachers who bob their hair Orange county school trustees have been known to express their approval of the fashion.

While R. P. Mitchell, county school superintendent, would not comment upon the matter for the newspapers nevertheless it was learned from a reliable source, that such is the case.

In several districts, notably in the Middle West, pretty pedagogues, upon their appearance in the classroom in bobbed hair, have been known to resign at the request of their employers.

A canvass of those in touch with the educational situation revealed, it was said, that bobbed hair is now equally as fashionable among the instructors as among the students.

Identity Is Veiled.

"If the girls are more comfortable," said one man, "they can think better and anything conducive to better thinking is good for the students. A lot of hair piled on the top of the cranium is liable to have a cramping effect upon the gray matter. I don't blame the girls for wanting to lighten the burden."

This man would not allow his name to be used "because you would spread it all over the county."

At the same time it was learned that in Santa Ana institutions and offices of physicians have taken with equal ardor to the abbreviated hair. So far no case has been discovered of a physician "firing" his pretty assistant for her act in cutting her hair.

While bobbed hair, in general, seems to have met the approval of professional men the so-called "shingle" does not seem to have fared so well, it was revealed.

Effect Most Striking.
The shingle, according to barbers, is brought about by stroking the neck with a pair of clippers, letting the hair fall where it will. After the operation is completed the rag-rug chinchilla-coat-effect of the coiffure is most striking, clipper wielders say.

One effect of bobbed hair has been to antiquate the old gag about the finding of the long hair upon the gentle shoulder of friend husband after his long session "at the office."

"Vaudevillians who spring that one evidently get their best gags from 'The Pickwick Papers' because the young women can surely be depended upon to have their hair deleted just below the brain," an observer declared.

"Hang up, you can't get much from me," chortled Mitchell, G. E. D.

WITH ITS SIXTY MEMBERS SELLING TICKETS, BAND EXPECTS RECORD ATTENDANCE HERE

One of the largest crowds that has ever attended a concert or entertainment given by a local organization at the high school auditorium is expected there the night of May 13, when the Santa Ana municipal band, under the leadership of D. C. Cianfoni, makes its first formal appearance in this city, executives of the band declared here.

The predictions as to attendance are based on the fact that members of the band, of whom there are close to sixty, are selling tickets. In addition, tickets are on sale at Shaffer's music store, 415 North Main street, and at Chandler's music store, 426 West Fourth street.

Frequent rehearsals have been held recently with the result, it was stated that the program, which covers a wide range, is now in a remarkably excellent state of preparation.

Harry Hanson, business manager of the organization, stated that perhaps no band in the history of this city had undergone such an intensive series of rehearsals.

Increasing interest is said to be manifest in John Ardizoni, dramatic baritone, who will be featured. The personnel of the band numbers some of the leading musicians of Orange county.

MONTHLY REPORTS MADE TO COUNCIL

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 6.—A total of $391 was taken by the local City Recorder, C. W. Warner, during the month. It was shown by his regular monthly report to the city council at the regular meeting last night. Motor fines for the month aggregated $203. Other fines were $88. No jail sentences were served during the month. Twenty-nine cases were heard before the local court during the period.

Reports of the other departments were also heard at the meeting. The minutes for the month of April were read by the city clerk. It was announced that the propositions about the resurfacing of a portion of Delaware and Seventh streets and the ornamental lighting system for Eleventh street would be taken up at a date in the near future by the council.

Nearly fifty people were present at the meeting, one of the largest crowds to attend a city council meeting for many months, with the exception of the inauguration meeting two weeks ago. Several communications were read. The Southern California Auto club stated that they were prepared to install flash red warning signals wherever needed in the near future.

The license of E. L. Curtis, proprietor of the fishing tackle stand at the end of the pier, was extended for a period of three years. Curtis has been in charge of the stand for the past three years. An application for the position of health officer by Dr. A. C. Saunders was taken under advisement.

Sues Physicians When Wife Passes

LOS ANGELES, May 6.—Charging malpractice, Arthur H. Funk, San Pedro, has filed suit for $50,000 damages against Dr. Norman A. Leake and Dr. A. H. Owen, prominent Torrance physicians. Funk alleges the physicians permitted his wife to leave the hospital too quickly after her child was born last March; that she was later pronounced by the doctors to have "influenza and appendicitis" when, he contends, she had neither. He claims the physicians did not use the prescribed form of treatment for either ailment. Mrs. Funk died March 24.

Everybody's buying tickets to the concert which the Santa Ana Municipal band will give at the high school auditorium here Tuesday night. Here is Miss Chaima Lindsey, local dancer, selling a ticket to City Marshal Claude Rogers.

FIRST MEET OF COMMITTEE OF 50 FOR PORT DISCUSSION THURSDAY

Boosters Not to Remain

Action, Is Stand

DESIRE NO DELAYS

Tour of Bay and Session
With Harbor Chamber
Is On Schedule

Now that the harbor hearing conducted by the United States district engineer has been completed, the next step for developing the tri-counties' project at Newport Beach will be decided by a committee of fifty Orange county citizens, it was announced here today, at a meeting called for Thursday night. "Orange county does not consist of the kind of persons who sit and wait for somebody else to bring about their prosperity," stated George Peabody, harbor booster of Newport, "and we are not going to remain idle pending government action on Major Ardery's report of yesterday's hearing."

"The committee of fifty is going right ahead to see what part Orange county should take in the development of the project so that there will be no more delay in the great program which will enable us to enjoy unlimited returns from our natural resources."

To Organize
Each member of the board of county supervisors recently appointed ten citizens from his super-visory district, making a total of fifty to comprise the committee which will hold its first meeting Thursday at the Newport Yacht club.

At this meeting it is expected officers will be elected and sub-committees appointed to work out details of a gigantic development program to extend into future years. Recommendations on the part of the committee to be undertaken by Orange county at the present time, it was said, would be requested.

It will be the duty of this committee of fifty to suggest proper means of financing the work to be undertaken by the county. The committee also is supposed to recommend the sum of money to be spent for whatever immediate work is suggested for improving the tri-counties harbor.

Financing Plan
If the committee favors the issuance of bonds to finance the county's part of the development program, it will be the duty of that group to suggest a date for the bond election and to work out all details pertaining to such bonding action.

The entire committee of fifty, accompanied by the Orange county board of supervisors and officials of the Orange County Harbor Chamber of Commerce, will meet at 4 p. m. Thursday at the harbor to be taken for a boatripe across the bay and through the channel.

After the cruise about the harbor the Harbor Chamber will entertain the committee and the supervisors at dinner served at the yacht club. Immediately following the dinner the supervisors and Chamber members will leave the committee to work out its own plans and recommendations for the county's part in the harbor development.

"This is the government's position on Newport Harbor," said Major E. D. Ardery, following the conclusion of the hearing held yesterday afternoon in the Santa Ana city hall.

"We want to know definitely that a necessity exists for an auxiliary harbor to Los Angeles port. This hearing has, to a large extent, shown the need. The government is on the fence and must be shown. If the necessity exists it is ready to fall off the fence on the side of Orange county's harbor."

Report Ready Soon.

"I would not care to make a statement at this time as to the army board's attitude on the subject. As you know, our report has a long way to go. We expect to have it ready by the end of the week. It will be sent to the division engineer in San Francisco, who in turn forwards it to Washington. It goes through various departments until it reaches the

PEA POD CURE CASE MAN TO FACE COURT

The "man from yesterday," who is declared to have journeyed back from a forgotten generation to the land of Youth, traveling an alimentary highway supposedly of pea pods and alfalfa, will go on trial here tomorrow.

Rex H. W. Albrextondare, picturesque "scientist" and man of more or less mystery, is scheduled to defend himself before a jury in Superior Judge Z. B. West's court against a charge of practicing medicine without a state license.

"Doctor" Albrextondare claims to be a scientist of great skill. According to his own story, as reported in the press, his research has tapped vast depths of knowledge revealed to no other living being. In plant life, he claims, he has found strange secrets. For instance, how to remain forever young.

The rejuvenation miracle of "Black Oxen" scarcely rivals the demonstration of his science that "Dr." Albrextondare professes to have accomplished in his own person, according to interviews published in Los Angeles. Turning back the hands of the clock sixty years is said to be his boast.

One of his favorite remedies, according to testimony presented at his preliminary hearing held recently at Orange, was one composed of such simple ingredients as pea pods and alfalfa. Whether he himself used this asserted medicine is not known.

Huge of stature, lithe and active, in the bloom of apparently young manhood, Albrextondare is said to pose as the solitary conqueror of Father Time.

Whether he applied his asserted arts in the cases of two Orange girls, whose deaths occurred last year, is the question to be decided in the case at bar tomorrow.

The prosecution alleges that he attended the girls in a professional capacity and that he had no license to do so. The charge is denied by the "scientist."

Fail to Locate Body of Aviator

SAN DIEGO, May 6.—The body of Lieut. A. Musk, who was killed when his naval plane plunged 2300 feet into the sea off this city and sank in 25 feet of water, was still missing today. Divers and seaplanes combed the scene of the crash throughout the night.

The fatal accident occurred when Musk's plane was rammed in mid-air by the plane of Lieutenant O. A. Weiler. The aviators were flying in battle formation.

BUS HEARING AT H. B. S. FINISHED

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 6.—The hearing of the application for the franchise for the Crown Stage line between Huntington Beach and Seal Beach, to be included in a direct line from Riverside through Santa Ana to Long Beach, was completed yesterday before State Examiner W. R. Williams.

Ed Manning, E. A. Suter, W. R. Osborne, and O. A. Smith spoke in behalf of the Pacific Electric company, who are contesting the franchise. Smith stated that his company had made preparations to put on a through service from Long Beach to this city if it should be necessary but that the railroad company would not do so unless requested to. Smith stated that the through line was now under construction through the Belmont Shore tract and would be completed in about three weeks.

According to Smith, there is not enough travel over the Pacific Electric at the present time to justify this section to make the line a paying concern for both the bus line and the electric street cars to operate. Smith also stated that passengers could prevent a long wait at either East Long Beach or North Long Beach by consulting time tables.

Attorneys Clyde Bishop of Santa Ana and L. W. Blodgett of this city represented the stage line. Testimony was introduced by them at a recent meeting showing that the people considered the franchise to the bus line would offer a great public convenience and would be a necessity.

CHAMBER PAYS TRIBUTE TO GRIFFITH

LAGUNA BEACH, May 6.—At the regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, that organization, the members of which were all of them his friends, paid fitting tribute to Conway Griffith, who died suddenly.

In view of the well known fact that the deceased abhorred pomp, fuss and feathers, no attempt was made to pass a resolution, stilled in form and stereotyped as regards sentiment. However, really heartfelt were the expressions of sympathy tendered the relatives of the dead artist by this commercial body, which unqualifiedly voiced the sentiments of the entire village.

They said, in effect: "Conway Griffith, the artist, our friend and good neighbor passed away, and all of us feel his loss."

The president, E. E. Jahraus, the secretary, J. S. Thurston and the secretary, H. G. Heisler, affixed their signatures to a written expression of sorrow at the bereavement, the same to go on record with the minutes of the organization that speaks for the community.

ORANGE, May 6.—Presenting "The Doll House" next Friday evening, May 9, at the auditorium of the Orange Union High school, this cast of students will give one of the most difficult plays they have worked on this year. "The Doll House," by Ibsen, is a problem play, and a tragedy. It is the story of a young wife, and because of her ignorance of life, she was more like a doll than a wife. Nora, this wife, loved her husband very greatly. She committed an act, which was, in the eyes of the law, wrong, but to her, because she did it for her husband, Trovald, the act was justified by her love for him.

As Nora discovered later, much to her sorrow, that the end does not justify the means, she began to understand what life was. She had been deceiving her husband about the wrong act she had committed, but now she knew that she must tell Trovald. But what about Trovald's reception of her guilty confession? Would he forgive the wife he had professed to love so devotedly?

This is one of the problems offered in "The Doll House" and upon this hangs the whole story.

The cast F. L. Carrier, the director has chosen for this play is: Trovald Helmer William Garrison, Nora, his wife. Portia Friedenbloom

Mushroom Plant To Be Located At Seal Beach

SEAL BEACH, May 6.—Seal Beach will have another new industry in the near future. E. A. Murray, a mushroom grower from the north, has decided to locate here, and has purchased property on Twelfth and Thirteenth streets near the school building, where he will make immediate arrangements for the indoor gardens. Included in the sale are eight two-room cottages formerly owned by the Baylands Land company. These will be altered to meet the needs of the mushroom industry. Climatic conditions and the nearness to big markets offered inducements for the purchase of the four lots and buildings.

Wintersburg-Smeltzer

WINTERSBURG AND SMELTZER, May 2.—"Those Husbands of Ours," the humorous play given on last Friday evening by local talent under the auspices of the Parent Teachers' association attracted a large audience and deservedly so for the members of the cast carried off their parts to perfection, bringing many a hearty laugh from their hearers.

The characters, Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Shaw, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. White, Mrs. Black and Mrs. Green were played by Mrs. Eva Beem (leading lady), Miss Cardwell, Mrs. Cline, Miss Lewis, Mrs. Melburn Russell, Mrs. Redding, Mrs. Cline, Miss Lewis and Mrs. Lytle Soden. Each of the ladies' husbands decided his wife needed a vacation so each is persuaded to take a trip, the husbands to supervise the home in his absence.

It's on the day of home-coming that the play begins, the scene being in the living room of Mrs. Jones' home where in the midst of a topsy turvy assortment of articles, properly belonging in other parts of the house, the mistresses stands viewing her surroundings in dismay. Here her neighbors arrive one by one to bemoan similar experiences and the fun is on.

Clever jokes on any number of Wintersburg people were worked into the play and an article on "Husbands" read.

Supplementing the play which took an hour for production a number of interesting numbers of music and readings, etc., were given.

First on the program was a violin duet by Norman Ruoff and Donald Wodington and was followed by a reading by Velma Brown; for dance, "I See You" by Miss Carlsons' boys and girls; solo John Soden; reading, Alma Kauwayer; solo, Miss Opal Dowdy, and as an encore a duet by Miss Dowdy and John Soden; reading, Geneva McMillan; folk dance, seventh and eighth grade girls; piano duet, Alice Willmarth and Juliette Blaylock.

Each part of the program was exceptionally well worth while and the evening's entertainment netted the P. T. A. $32.

At the next P. T. A. meeting a final decision as to the use of the funds will be made. It has been proposed that a first aid kit for the school be purchased, as this is a real necessity in a school of 189 pupils, such as the Oceanview school now has.

Mr. and Mrs. Perle Elliott are the proud parents of an eight-pound son born Tuesday morning, April 28, at their home near Wintersburg. The little newcomer is a brother of Virgil Elliott, local winner on many high school track fields, so Wintersburg is now looking forward to local honors being continued in the future through the name of Elliott.

Mr. and Mrs. David Russell and family are leaving the last of this week for Los Angeles to make their home. They are returning to the home which they left to come to Orange county and which has been rented during their absence. Miss Susan Russell and David Russell, both of who are students of the Huntington Beach high school, are remaining at the home here until the close of school the middle of June. The hosts of friends

"SURE AM GLAD I TRIED CARDUI"

Louisiana Lady Says That She Was in a Condition of Serious Debility, But Now Feels Good As Ever

Shreveport, La.—Mrs. William C. Ranft, of 303 Baker St., this city, had never known what ill health was until last year. Then she began having smothering spells.

"I would awake in the mornings," relates Mrs. Ranft, "feeling weak and just no account. I couldn't get up and stir about like I had always done. I was nervous, too, for I didn't understand the shortness of breath. I would try to do my work but would have to sit or lie down."

Mr. Ranft took matters into his own hands, and, on the suggestion of his druggist brought home some Cardui for his wife.

"After taking one bottle," continues Mrs. Ranft, "I felt stronger. Each morning my husband would say, 'Take your medicine.' I did, and after my second bottle I felt good as ever. I know Cardui did me worlds of good and I am glad I tried it."

Mrs. Ranft found, as have many other women that Cardui, with its gentle, building-up, tonic qualities, was just what she needed to put her on her feet again. Cardui is purely vegetable and harmless.

Cardui may be bought at any druggist's. Get a bottle today.

HIS BROTHER'S WIFE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

The marriage of Dolly and Nigel Bretherton proves the unhappiness of when war is declared. Nigel is glad to enlist. He leaves Dolly in the care of Mary Varney, Nigel's sister, who is a little pucker of perplexity between Miss Varney's kind eyes and the door and went up to him.

David shrugged his shoulders. "Oh, I think she is pretty," he said nonchalantly. "Or she would be if she didn't look so sad; and she's most certainly a lady."

"She adored poor Nigel; upstairs just now, she put her arms around my neck and began to cry like a child when I spoke about him."

"I shouldn't speak of him too much if I were you; it doesn't give her a chance to get over it. The thing is to try and take her thoughts off the subject, don't you think? Of course, I don't mean that I want her to forget him—but you understand?"

"I suppose it is the best thing to do," Nigel said. "David, did you tell me her name was Dolly?"

"I—er—really forget; why?"

"I asked her what she would like me to call her, and she said 'Mary'—but I am sure you said that her name was Dolly."

"Nigel wrote about her as Dolly; perhaps it was a sort of nickname."

David had half turned away, and was looking down into the fire. "I shall call her Mary, anyway," Miss Varney asserted. "The other doesn't seem to suit her at all. Dolly!"

"One thinks of a babyish-looking girl, not anyone in the least like Mary. David, I'm going to love that girl."

David looked round smiling. "Are you?"

"I'm sure I shall. There's something about her—," she broke off. "I suppose you'll be calling me an impressionable old woman?"

David put out his hand and took her.

"I think you're the best woman in the world," he said; and, stooping, gave her a hearty kiss.

Miss Varney smiled, well pleased. She adored her tall nephew; it was her greatest happiness to hear him say that he did not know what he should do without her.

She walked to the door and came back. "David," she said in a half whisper, "you're not to dress for dinner tonight; I don't think Mary has any evening frocks."

"I don't suppose she has; they must have led a very quiet life by the look of the flat. Did she like her room?"

"She said it was lovely; she had never seen it before. When she came with Nigel, they only went round the grounds, and through the downstairs rooms. You must show her all over the house tomorrow."

"If she cares to go."

"If she cares to? Why, she's as proud of being a Bretherton as you are!" She thinks they're a most wonderful race. Do you really mean to have her portrait added to the gallery, dear?"

"If she will allow me to; all the Brethertons and their wives are there."

"She is a widow, poor child," said Miss Varney, sighing.

David made no comment, and she went softly away, closing the door.

By dinner time Mary seemed to have recovered something of her cheerfulness; there was a little white added to the sombre black of her frock, and she was not so pale.

As David sat at the head of the table, the light from the shaded lamp falling on his face, she could see again that odd, uncertain likeness to his dead brother that had so upset her that night at the flat; it made her feel fanciful; it almost seemed as if Nigel were a living presence in the room, watching her, perfectly conscious of what she was doing.

She woke from her dreaming with a little start.

David was speaking to her; his eyes met hers with that half-deprecating, half-sympathetic expression which she could not quite fathom.

"You know we had a ghost here? Did Nigel tell you?"

Mary shook her head; a faint gleam of interest crossed her face. (Continued in Our Next Issue)

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

He turned slowly away, drawing the door to behind him before he went down the wide staircase to his own study.

The car had already gone to Selmont, the nearest station. If the train was punctual she ought to be here in a few moments.

Even as he glanced at his watch he heard the motor-horn as the car turned in at the drive. He stopped, irresolute.

A servant crossed the hall to open the door. Miss Varney came hurrying down the stairs.

"That must be she, David. Oh dear, I do feel so nervous!"

David looked a little nervous himself. He passed a hand rather agitatedly across the back of his head, and glanced at himself in a long mirror that hung on one wall; but he went forward composedly enough when the car drew up at the step, and a servant opened the door.

A little dying ray of sunshine struggled through the gray sky as Mary Varney stepped from the car, shining warmly upon her sweet face and black-robed figure.

"Sunshine to greet her! A good omen," thought Miss Varney, as she unceremoniously brushed David aside and went forward with outstretched hands.

"My dear child, I am so glad to see you! Welcome home—to Nigel's home!"

The girl's eyes went past the little lady's kindly face to where David stood, and a sort of fear momentarily filled her eyes. But it was gone immediately, and she returned Miss Varney's impulsive kiss with warmth.

"I am so glad to come, and I think it is sweet of you to want me."

She shook hands with David composedly enough, but she did not raise her eyes to his. Her lips were a little tremulous. Now the first flush of excitement had died away she looked pale and ill.

"Tea will be all ready when you have taken off your hat. David, I tell them to put tea in your study—it's so much more cozy there. You don't mind, do you?"

She did not wait for an answer. The two women went away up the wide staircase together.

David Bretherton stood looking after them with a little frown. She was glad to come, he was sure of that; the tone of her voice and the tremulous agitation of her face told him more than an effusion of words could have done. But he remembered how she had avoided meeting his eyes.

He went into the study, where tea was laid by the fire, and stood looking across the room with thoughtful eyes.

CHAPTER XXII
The Beginning of Difficulties

HE made himself very agreeable during tea-time. Even Miss Varney was a little surprised at the attention he paid to the girl. As a rule he cared little for women, and avoided their company whenever possible.

He told Mary that he was looking forward to showing her the surrounding country. He said that there were many things about the house that would interest her—"That is, if you care for old things," he added.

"I do, very much," she told him. "For the first time her eyes met his. Something in their expression held her. A little color crept up over his chin. It was David who looked away first."

"We have some very fine pictures," he said, rather constrainedly. "We are very proud of them, aren't we, Aunt Florence?" He turned again to Mary. "I wonder if you will let me have your portrait added to the gallery? Nigel's is there. I should like his wife's to hang beside his."

Mary had just lifted her cup. It fell from her nerveless grasp to the rug at her feet. She sat looking down at it with a sort of frozen horror on her white face.

Miss Varney rushed to her rescue.

"It doesn't matter—it doesn't matter in the least," she declared kindly, regardless of the fact that the broken cup was old Sevres, and almost priceless.

She patted the bell for the maid. She poured Mary a fresh cup of tea. She laughed and chatted, and did her best to cover the girl's painful confusion.

Mary began a stammered apology.

"I am so very sorry. I don't know how it happened. I am not clumsy as a rule."

There were tears in her eyes and in her voice.

"Please don't upset yourself," said David kindly. "There was a sort of remorse in his face as he saw the distress in hers. 'I dare say you are tired.' He looked down at the broken fragments of delicate china. 'I never cared for the set, anyhow,' he said carelessly."

Miss Varney looked up in amazement.

"Why," she began, remembering how many times David had said how much he valued the tea-service, but stopped, meeting his eyes. "No, you never did really like it, did you?" she said hurriedly.

They spoke on other subjects, but it was obvious that Mary was upset at what had occurred; as soon as possible Miss Varney took her away.

"To unpack and rest," she said. "You must be tired after the long journey. We don't have dinner till half-past seven, so you will have plenty of time."

When she came back to the study, she found David still standing where she had left him; there was a little pucker of perplexity between Miss Varney's kind eyes and the door and went up to him.

"She isn't a bit as I pictured her, David. If you remember, Monty Fisher described her as very pretty, and rather common, didn't he? Well, I don't call her pretty, do you? And she's a lady to her finger tips."

David shrugged his shoulders. "Oh, I think she is pretty," he said nonchalantly. "Or she would be if she didn't look so sad; and she's most certainly a lady."

"She adored poor Nigel; upstairs just now, she put her arms around my neck and began to cry like a child when I spoke about him."

"I shouldn't speak of him too much if I were you; it doesn't give her a chance to get over it. The thing is to try and take her thoughts off the subject, don't you think? Of course, I don't mean that I want her to forget him—but you understand?"

"I suppose it is the best thing to do," Nigel said. "David, did you tell me her name was Dolly?"

"I—er—really forget; why?"

"I asked her what she would like me to call her, and she said 'Mary'—but I am sure you said that her name was Dolly."

"Nigel wrote about her as Dolly; perhaps it was a sort of nickname."

David had half turned away, and was looking down into the fire. "I shall call her Mary, anyway," Miss Varney asserted. "The other doesn't seem to suit her at all. Dolly!"

BANKERS KNOCK APPLEBOYS OUT OF TOP POST

Make Clean Sweep of Four Points In Crucial Ten Pin Title Series

Without much ado and in a systematic, business-like manner, the American National bank's crack quintette of bowlers last night at the Broadway academy dislodged the Appleby Motors company team from the leadership of the Santa Ana Business Men's league and virtually clinched the ten-pin circuit championship by making their victory a clean sweep.

The Applebys, out in front of the pack since the opening week, were without the services of Lackaye, one of their best bets, but the Bankers were in fine fettle and made their win so decisive that two or three Lackayes wouldn't have changed the verdict.

The MoneyChangers have two more series and these with fairly formidable clubs but the fans who saw them rush through the automobile troupe last night were satisfied that the new league leaders are "in."

Warner, lead-off man for the Bankers, led his team and the field with 571 pins. L. A. Oleson came second with 531 and his brother, M. J. Oleson, was hot on his heels with 530. Jimmy Valentine topped the Applebys with 499. Mitchell ranked second with 459.

The Chandler Furniture company bagged three out of four points from the First National Bank. Dave Marshall of the Chandler's shot high score for the evening when he rolled a 215 in the second game.

EVENING SALUTATION

Now the bright morning star, day's harbinger,
Comes dancing from the east, and leads with her
The flowery May, who from her green lap throws
The yellow cowslip and the pale primrose.
Hail bounteous May!

—Milton.

IF JOHNSON IS DEFEATED

If Johnson is defeated in California today it will be in effect, but not in fact, a defeat of his governmental policies; for his failure to carry the state—if he does fail to do so—will be due not so much to repudiation of his policies as to the fact that even his best friends conceded that he was already defeated in the race for the presidential nomination.

The average voter will not support a loser; neither will he vote for an abstract principle alone.

If Johnson had made a good showing in the Middle West and in the East he would have carried California today by a tremendous majority. As he failed to demonstrate, in the Eastern and Middle Western primaries, even a fighting chance for the presidential nomination, it will not surprise anybody if he fails to carry California today. Indeed if he should carry California today it will be the greatest triumph of progressive principles and policies of government on a pinnacle of fame in that respect.

Literally thousands of people who believe in progressive principle of government and regard Johnson as the ablest exponent of those principles will vote against him today because they "do not want to throw away their votes." They cannot be made to realize that in voting against Johnson they are dealing a death-blow to the principles and policies for which he stands.

Literally thousands of people who habitually vote for the man more than for the principle will vote against Johnson today, because apparently—from their point of view—it will do him no good to vote for him.

It is one of the weaknesses of democracy that only a small percentage of voters can be made to realize that oftentimes the most effective vote is apparently a losing vote, that sometimes we must lose if we would win.

CLEAN UP THE ALLEYS

The city street department has announced its intention of cleaning up the alleys of the city. Tin cans and trash are to be cleared away; then the residents of the city are to do their part in keeping the alleys clean.

We are in favor of both projects. That is, in favor of having the city clean up the alleys and in favor of having residents co-operate in keeping the alleys clean.

In this campaign, we have no doubt, old misshapen garbage cans will be discarded, and bright new cans put in their place. Also, in this plan of co-operation, we have no doubt that the garbage men of the city will be instructed by city authorities to co-operate in preserving the shape and usefulness of garbage cans.

Giving attention to our alleys is tremendously worth while. It is health insurance. Aside from all matter of unsightliness, every alley of the city ought to be kept clean as a means of getting rid of fire hazards and health menaces.

THE ABSENT VOTER

Now that we have the absent voter law, very little use for it has been found, so far, this year. This is the experience of County Clerk J. M. Backs, of this county. Not a single voter has availed himself of the absent voter privilege. Reports from other counties of the state show that those asking for the right to vote under the absent voter law are few and far between. That is, they are so far as today's election is concerned. We suspect that they will be far more numerous on election day in November.

The scarcity of absent voting today does not mean that the law is a useless law nor that it is an unnecessary and ill-advised incumbrance of the statute books. If it means anything, it means that there is no great interest in today's election. It means, probably, that the vote at today's primaries will be very light.

The strongest argument in favor of the absent voter law was that it would give men of the army and navy an opportunity to vote. In wartime, especially, men in uniform should have the opportunity as well as the right to vote.

AL SMITH INELIGIBLE

The newspaper discussion of the possible nomination of Al Smith, Governor of New York, as a candidate for the presidency is surely intended only as a space filler. Mr. Smith is the very personification of the spirit of Tammany. His nomination would inevitably cause the next election to be fought and won on the issue of simple patriotism. Party lines would disappear. The re-election of Mr. Coolidge would be deemed essential to the safety of the best interests of the country by literally millions of Democrats, as well as by Republicans. The men who are counting in pre-election estimates the solid south as a certain asset in case of Mr. Smith's nomination are utterly deluded. The nomination of Mr. Smith would be beyond the shadow of a doubt wreck the solid south.

Neither the Republican nor the Democratic party can afford to consider the nomination of any man who is not a sincere friend of the United States Constitution. The proper thing and the only thing that can be safely done for both parties to nominate men to whose direction the country may be safely entrusted so that the campaign can be fought out on political issues, not on the issue of loyalty and morality.

THE IMMIGRATION LAW

The House of Representatives and the Senate of the United States have never deserved better at the hands of the American people than today. The passage of an excellent immigration bill by the House of Representatives has been seconded by the passage of a better immigration bill by the Senate. The House measure bases quotas on the 1890 census, allowing two per cent of each nationality, but makes numerous exceptions, some of which are humane and desirable, others being more questionable. The Senate bill provides that exceptions must be within the quotas. This is wise.

The Senate bill provides for a limit on immigration of 150,000 in 1927 and thereafter, basing quotas upon the national origins of the entire American population. This plan is satisfactory and if it saves the feelings of people whose common sense should have saved them from any hurt, it is a cause for rejoicing.

The House and Senate action does not cast a stigma upon any people. It might well be that we wish to "discriminate" against various races not because they are inferior, but because they are superior and we can not compete with them. It may well be that a frank acknowledgement of full equality in all ways and of superiority in some ways may be accompanied by a realization of the fact that it is hard to do the business of democracy with some races.

The action of the Congress will help to allay the genuine alarm of the native American element and of those who see moral and political problems from similar viewpoints and will prevent the growth of incipient racial jealousies and prejudices.

Intolerant Turkey

Fresno Republican

We are having considerable derisive amusement, in the United States, over the order of the Turkish government closing the school of medicine at the Women's College at Constantinople on the ground that "higher education is the exclusive right of the government." This woman's college medical school, maintained by American philanthropy, has been virtually the only institution of its kind between western Europe and Japan, a light burning in the darkness of oriental ignorance of sanitation and of bacteriological causes of disease. But it must be closed because all education in Turkey is not only to be Turkish but directed by the Turkish government.

As we in the United States need not be too superior in this matter over the benighted Turks. For we have many citizens who urge just that sort of control of education, even of higher education, in the United States.

There are many men of influence and standing who would forbid all colleges to teach any political thought except their particular thought, to denounce any philosophy of life but their philosophy. They would have education censored in this "interest of the state," and then make the state's interest subject to their own peculiar notions of what the state's interest should be.

The Turks are not the only intolerant peoples on the face of the earth.

Problems For Secretary Wilbur

Riverside Press

Secretary of the Navy Wilbur while presiding as superior judge and judge of the supreme court of California had many a knotty problem to solve, but he seems right now to have a greater puzzle than any legal complication that he is tangled in this state. How to make an effective navy out of the material that he has on hand; how to increase the navy's personnel to the required quota, and to get from congress appropriations for putting the navy on a basis that will compare with the navies of such other first class powers as Great Britain and Japan, are problems that will test to the full the resourcefulness and acumen of the new secretary.

No less an authority than Admiral Coontz, head of the naval fleet in the recent naval maneuvers, has declared that the navy is undervalued, that the submarines are obsolete and too slow to be of real service; that an intensive construction program will have to be carried out to put the navy back on its feet, and that a lot of old battleships will have to be converted into oil burners. There are as well minor defects and shortcomings that the gallant old sea dog mentioned.

Secretary Wilbur is going into the matter with characteristic Wilbur thoroughness, and when he gets ready to act congress and the nation will be prepared for some important action.

Women Will Do As They Please

San Francisco Chronicle

The National Garment Retailers' Association comprises merchants engaged in the business of selling clothing to women. At its style show in New York recently it decreed that shorter skirts will be the vogue this spring. If the lower hem is not at least twelve inches from the ground the drapery will be passe.

There is no organization that can successfully dictate styles to the American women. They may try it but that is as far as they will get. It is the prevailing impression that women are slaves to fashion. There may be something to that, but the fashion is what the women themselves make it and not what any individual or organization may see fit to decree.

Paris tried to set a long skirt style some time ago, but it failed to overcome the popularity of the abbreviated garment.

If the American women decide to wear them shorter they'll do it. If they don't feel that way about it they won't. And that's that.

That Body of Yours

AUTOMOBILE GAS POISONING

You read frequently in the papers of some motorist who was picked up unconscious in his garage, simply because he allowed his motor to run for a few minutes with the doors of the garage closed. Frequently these motorists have been found lying on the floor near the exhaust.

What's the trouble?

It is due to poisoning by the exhaust gas from the engine. The trouble with this form of poisoning is that it comes so quickly and without symptoms. You may be working around your car, feel just a little sick at the stomach, but nothing more. Sometimes there is a sort of dizziness and headache also. This headache is of the "pounding" type over the entire head and particularly about the temples. The limbs lose their power, and you are likely to fall down, and being unable to get to the door, unconsciousness ensues, and if not discovered in time, death follows.

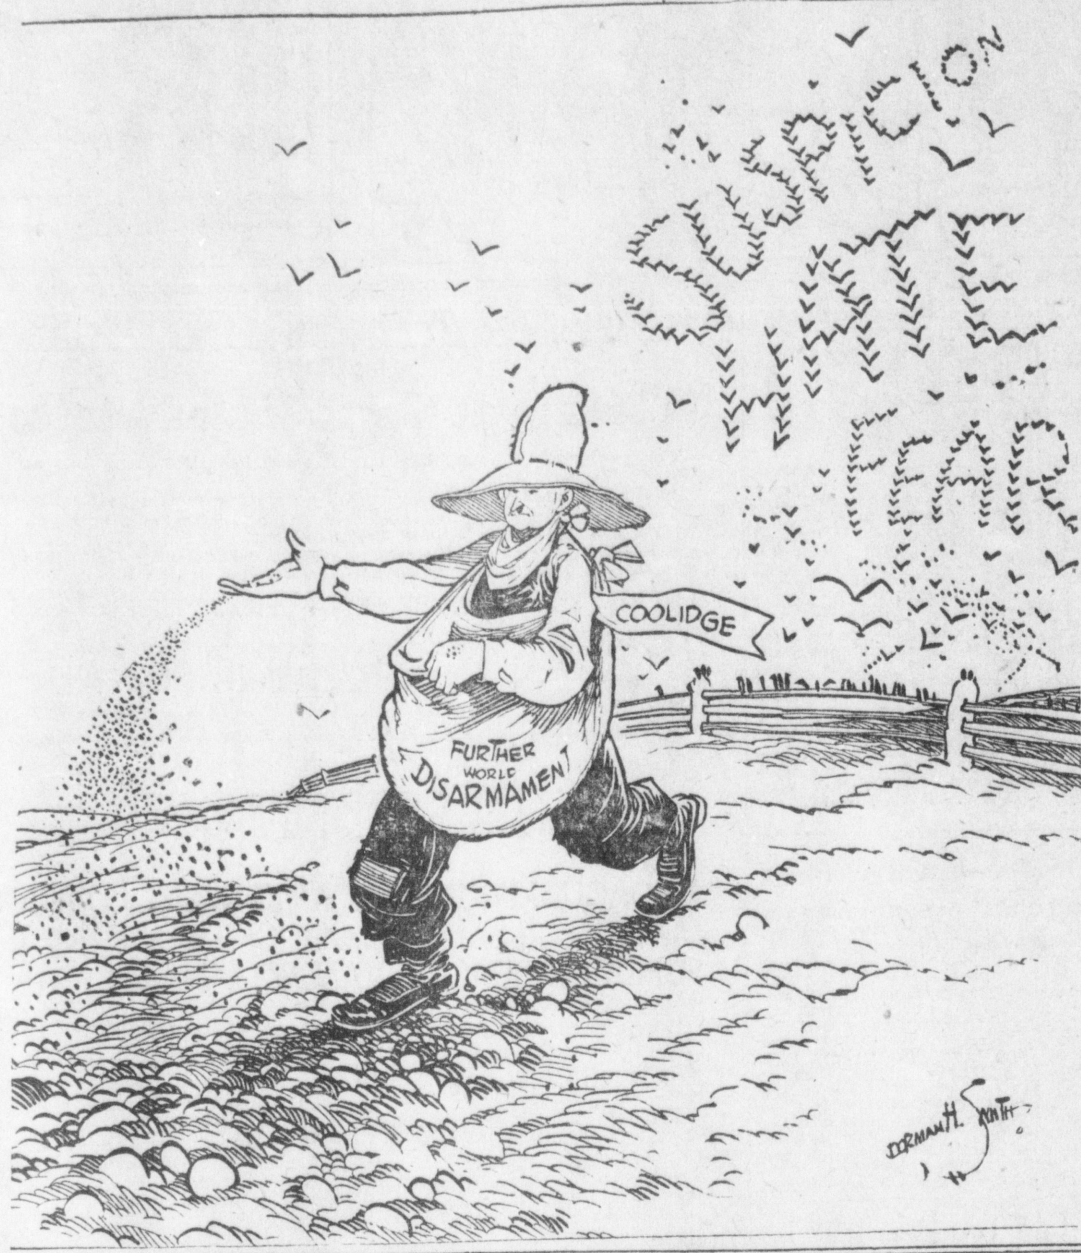

Now, these cases of automobile gas poisoning are more frequent than is generally thought. However, what I have in mind is that many motorists suffer from light attacks of gas poisoning and are not really aware of what is wrong. Perhaps you work about your car a great deal, testing the engine, changing the adjustment on the carburetor, and so forth. The garage door is closed or partly closed. You get a slight amount of poisoning in this manner.

Further, you go out on a crowded highway and get behind a truck which is occupying the center of the road. Perhaps a half dozen cars are between you and the truck. The exhaust gas from the truck and from the other half dozen cars comes in through your wind shield or windows and you are thereby poisoned. The result, if you get much of it, and often, is to thin your blood, and give you a tired out feeling.

You wonder why you get no refreshment from your automobile ride.

The number of automobile mechanics who say they feel sick all the time is increasing greatly. Many garages doing extensive repair work are introducing ventilating systems, and other devices, to prevent this condition among their employees. There is only one cure—real fresh air.

What Will the Harvest Be?

To DAFFODILS

Fair Daffodils, we weep to see

You haste away so soon:

As yet the early-rising Sun

Has not attain'd his noon.

Stay, stay,

Until the hasting day

Has run

But to the even-song;

And, having pray'd together, we

Will go with you along.

We have short time to stay, as you.

We have as short a Spring;

As quick a growth to meet decay

As you, or any thing.

We die,

As your hours do, and dry

Away

Like to the Summer's ram;

Or as the pearls of morning's dew,

Ne'er to be found again.

Life's Good Sports

San Diego Union

If ever people aren't fair to you, it's your own fault—because I'm sure that life on the whole is perfectly "fair." This phrase with the "perfectly" underscored—is from a letter written by a young correspondent who, after completing the academic part of her education, is just starting out to make her way in what school teachers call "the outside world." It sets forth one view of a question which we have all pondered, consciously or unconsciously, and it challenges thought.

Life "perfectly fair?" The philosophers who talk learnedly of "free will" or "determinism" will give varying answers. The system-makers who have life all nicely dissected, and all the parts catalogued, will all have their answers—varying, too, in accord with the kind of a word each individual system contemplates. The question itself, however, is far more important than any merely philosophical abstractions. According as each man answers the question to himself, so he governs his own conduct and his own influence upon his community.

The practical aspect of the question lies in the fact that each of us has his own answer to it. We do answer the question—whether we think deeply about it or not. We can't avoid answering it. Meeting that question and answering it is a part of life, just as necessary and just as unconscious, often, as drawing breath. It's unlikely that there's any definite philosophy books. The "true" answer to the question—outside a hypothesis, a guess, a working plan, and go ahead living by it. And we all do that.

You know people who are convinced that life is "unfair"—that they are victims of circumstances, doomed to failure. Some of these people spend their lives sympathizing with themselves, and trying to induce others to do likewise. They are dismal specimens. They may be right, of course, but they aren't pleasant neighbors. Others, of sterner stuff, put up a bitter struggle against the odds they believe against them. Some of them even gain at misfortune—and "keep coming." They command admiration.

There are people of just the opposite persuasion—folks who believe themselves particularly favored. They call themselves "lucky." They are far outnumbered, however, by the ones who believe themselves favored, but insist that the favor is their due—the result of a just Providence that favors the righteous. They are even harder to live with than the outright pessimists are!

The folks who believe that life is perfectly fair are life's "good sports." They may be right or wrong—but they're the salt of the earth.

People who believe that life is perfectly fair don't have much to say about "luck." They recognize individual handicaps but, accept them as the runner at "scratch" accepts the advantage given his opponents—eager to overcome them. They are neither incurable optimists nor gurgling Pollyannas. They are not peddling "inspiration" with fine words. They're searching out the good things of life, and going after them. They honestly believe that win or lose—they have a chance, and that the ultimate result rests with them.

Maybe they're right. Maybe they're all wrong. But they are life's "good sports," and we couldn't well get along without 'em.

miles high and the air was so thin up there it couldent even hold the clouds strate and I had to breathe twice as fast as usual and only got half as much air for it and all of a sudden I felt sumthing tickeling

the back of my heels and wat was it but a big tigers whiskers, and I started to run and I could heer the tiger breathing rite in back of me, and its breth was so hot it bernt holes in the back of my pants, and jest then I came to the very top of the mountain so I couldent run up any ferther.

Well, go on, go on, this susents is awful, pop sed, and I sed, So there was one thing to do, and that was to run down the other side, but jest wen I started to do it

wat did I see running up on that side but a farsee looking lepperd with spikes on its spots, and the tiger was still in back of me so I couldent run up and I couldent run down.

Dont stop, cant you see Im shaking like a leaf, wat did you do?

pop sed.

I jumped, I sed.

Yes sir, I jumped rite strate out in the air off of the side of the mountain and I jumped jest in time because the tiger and the lepperd bumped rite into each other with a farsee explosion like wen you blow

ATTITUDE TOWARD IMMIGRANTS
DISCUSSED IN LETTER AND ARTICLE

Editor Register—I am enclosing an article here written some time ago by Mr. Panunzio, for the Southern California Community Exchange Bulletin, a magazine published by the Americanization workers of California. It is so apropos the recent immigration legislation, and also the efforts of the Americanization Department in Santa Ana at this time in endeavoring to promote a better understanding between Americans and our immigrants, that I would appreciate it very greatly if you could give it to the public.

I am in full accord with the editorial in last night's issue of The Register on Mexican Immigration with the exception of the paragraph which voices the already too prevalent attitude that Mexicans have little else to offer this country than their labor. It is true there are among them as there are among any national groups many that are undesirable as citizens, and we would welcome legislation that would mean restriction and selection the same as is provided for European countries. But on the other hand, I maintain, there are desirable and assimilable immigrants from Mexico as well as from European countries, and I feel we need to recognize their contributory qualities to civilization, their literary and artistic abilities, and that they are able to do something beside pick and shovel work.

It is to show this very thing that we endeavored to promote the "Fiesta" Saturday afternoon and evening at the Frances Willard Junior High. It is to help combat this attitude and doctrine held by too many Americans, that anything that is foreign is inferior, that I am enclosing this article by Mr. Panunzio, for I feel that his wider experience and study of immigration problems and immigrant backgrounds enables him to speak with much more authority than I. As he is now in Washington, D. C. doing some special research on the same subject, I am sending this article without his knowledge or consent. However if you can give me space I believe it may be of interest especially at this time and of value in helping to promote a more tolerant attitude toward our immigrant friends.

Thanking you for your splendid co-operation,

Yours very truly,
MRS. LENORE PANUNZIO,
1315 N. Main street.

A TASK FOR AMERICANIZATION

The article referred to above on "A large and important task for the Americanization worker," by Constance M. Panunzio, author of "The Soul of an Immigrant," follows:

In recent years there has arisen a movement in the United States, which should demand the thoughtful consideration of every citizen who is interested in the preservation and the fostering of true American ideals. I refer to that movement, which proclaims the right of the Nordic peoples and holds to the theory that all other peoples are inferior in present attainment and ultimately incapable of attaining to civilization.

Now no one has a greater regard for the Nordic people and for the Anglo-Saxons and their civilization than I. What I have written elsewhere pro their sturdy morality, their industriousness and virility, their tolerance in religion, the thoroughly democratic form of their government—all are subjects of admiration on the part of all who have observed their life with any degree of fairness and objectivity. And it is because of this very regard that I am led to lift my voice against the danger which lurks in the movement to which I have referred.

What lies immediately back of the movement is the presence in this country of a large number of immigrants, who live entirely separate from the body American and who appear to be incapable of assimilation. With this separation, this aloofness of individuals and of whole colonies, no one who has the real interests of humanity at heart, can possibly sympathize. As to who is responsible for this state of affairs, is another question. Also, there is a big question mark in the mind of many people as to whether, if the immigrant is given half a chance, he is capable of assimilation or not.

What the immediate objective of the movement, one may also be in entire accord. Its aim is to further restrict immigration, especially immigration from Southeastern Europe. That the importation of large masses of crude labor has had some effect upon the retardation of the development of social, political, labor and religious institutions in this country few people versed in the subject seem to doubt. It is almost universally agreed that emigration has been of ultimate detriment to the countries whence immigrants have come. For with an outlet in emigration, instead of making efforts toward the improvement of economic and social conditions, these countries have been satisfied to let large numbers of their subjects leave the fatherland, and have allowed the betterment of conditions to go by the board.

Watch the Propaganda So even with this objective we may be in entire sympathy. But when the so-called hundred per cent centers categorically consign all these peoples to the "scum of the earth," then we not only must take issue, but must see and help others to see what a deadly danger lurks in their propaganda and in their doctrine. When, in order to arouse public sentiment in favor of restriction of immigration, they make out that all the peoples of the earth other than the Nordics are inferior people, are unworthy of admission to America and all that kind of thing, then they are injecting a deadly virus into the very heart of America.

For in the first place the doctrine is scientifically false. Anthropology clearly points out that in inherent capacities the races of man differ only in minor aspects. The history of civilization shows equally clearly that every race which now inhabits the earth has had its day of attainment, its high peak of civilization and that it is not at all impossible that they all shall rise again to places of pre-eminence. Moreover, to class all these people as "inferior races" is to acknowledge utter ignorance of the contributions which these various people have made and are still making to civilized society. The doctrine must be rejected in no uncertain terms, because it is utterly false and contrary to the facts of science and of history.

Dangerous Doctrine But what makes this doctrine and propaganda much more dangerous to the country is that it has a tendency to inculcate a false patriotism which is the forerunner of destruction of all that is noble and true in the life of a nation. There can be no more effective method of destroying the foundations upon which a nation rests than by creating widespread belief that that particular nation is all superior and all other nations and peoples all-inferior. The nation or the people who will embrace such a belief are drinking a poison that sooner or later will kill.

There is no clearer evidence of this than that furnished by the history of Germany during the last fifty years. For nearly half a century the hundred per cent German went on preaching from the pulpit and the school platform, from the editor's swivel chair and from the business desk that Germany was the chosen of the Lord. Deutschland über Alles! Germany over all—became the slogan among the leaders and the widespread belief among the peoples in general. What followed the world knows
